2 held on drug charges

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Two of 12 defendants nabbed in a police raid at a suspected drug den in the city of Inkster last week were residents of Romulus.

The two defendants - Naim Khalifa and Tammy Mitchell - were arraigned in out-county courtrooms and were scheduled, with the 10 other defendants, to answer to the charges.

Police raided a house in the 27000 block of Hazelwood Street on Dec. 3 and arrested the 12 suspects, confiscated a quantity of drug contraband and paraphernalia.

Police believe the raid and subsequent arrests have closed down a major illegal drug operation in the city of Inkster.

Inkster Sgt. Lee Crump said the house was the target of an investigation and a hub of drug activity. He said that undercover police officers had made several drug purchases at the house before the raid actually occurred.

"We have had numerous complaints about this place, and I know the residents in the neighborhood are going to be happy to learn that we have made the arrests and closed down the operation," Sgt. Crump added.

Crump said the one defendant who resided at the house pleaded guilty to the charge of operating a house of illegal occupation. But the defendant was not the legal owner of the house.

The defendant, Henry Olszewski, also had an outstanding disorderly person warrant and was also charged on that count.

Olszewski pleaded guilty to the two counts at his arraignment and was ordered incarcerated for 120 days.

According to police records, Olszewski apparently doesn't own the house that he was living in. The property apparently is owned by his mother, who resides several doors down from the Hazelwood property that the police raided.

Also nabbed in the raid and facing drug charges are:

- Naim Khalifa, of the 35000 block of Roland, Romulus. Stood mute when arraigned for possession of cocaine. Bond is set at $50,000;

- Tammy Mitchell, 9000 block of Biddle, Romulus. She was charged with possession of cocaine. Pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor and sentenced to 90 days in jail;

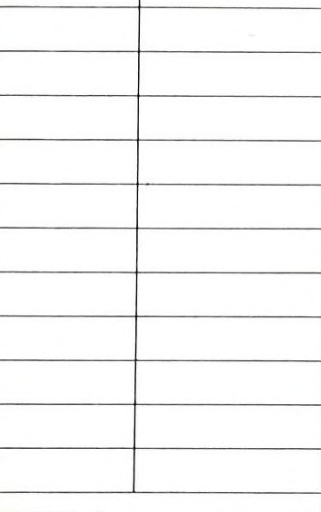

The arraignments and hearing were conducted by 22nd District Court Judge Sylvia James and 22nd District Court Magistrate Robert Pennergrass.

Art thievery charges are dismissed and added to

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A strange twist developed in the $73,000 stolen art recovery case last week, as current and expanded charges were filed in Detroit against the accused thieves and earlier charges filed in Romulus' 34th District Court were dismissed.

The arrested brothers, Gregory L. and Eric D. Lipsey of Detroit, were arraigned in Detroit's 36th District Court last week and three new charges of obtaining property under false pretenses were added to the original complaints against both parolees.

The change in venues was made apparently, police said, because the brothers were arrested and the loot was recovered in Detroit.

Cash bail of $50,000 each was set for the pair and a hearing date was set for Dec. 19 at the 36th District Court. But law enforcement officials feel that date probably will be postponed until after the new year.

The pair were originally also charged with three counts of receiving and concealing stolen property, one count each of possession of a firearm by a convicted felon and one count each of being a habitual offender, third offense. Those charges still stand, as they were refiled in Detroit.

Also arrested with the two men was Kimberly A. Upshaw, 23, of Redford, who was charged originally with three counts of receiving and concealing stolen property. Those charges still stand and no new charges were added against her, Romulus police said.

Romulus police first announced the recovery of $73,000 in stolen art on Nov. 25 after executing two search warrants in Detroit and Redford.

Detective Lt. David Early reported at that time the Lipsey brothers were being held for several thefts of rental trucks from the Romulus hotel between July and October 1997.

In the Detroit raid local police also found a .40 calibre semi-automatic pistol and an Uzi submachine gun.

The Lipsey brothers, who are on parole for armed robbery and auto theft charges, face extended jail terms and fines if convicted.

Dr. Kevorkian motive is hit

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The most recent assisted suicide case in Romulus last week left many observers asking if the team of Dr. Jack Kevorkian-attorney Geoffrey Fieger is now strictly into making political statements rather than assisting its clients.

Why wasn't California breast cancer patient Rosalind Haas simply escorted to nearby Oregon, where assisted suicide cases are definitely legal, rather than extend her trip all the way to Michigan, numerous Romulus area residents are asking.

These same residents feel Kevorkian-Fieger are trying to tweak the noses of statewide legislators as efforts are made to come up with a law that county prosecutors can use to curtail the arrival of non-state residents, who seek to end their lives in Romulus and surrounding cities.

The apparent Haas assisted suicide is the seventh that Romulus Police have been asked to investigate as a homicide, Detective Lt. David Early revealed last week. None of the deaths have resulted in criminal actions, causing some alarm in public safety, hotel and political circles.

Early has become dismayed at times when certain officials claim it is local police departments' fault that prosecutions are not pressed in assisted suicide cases.

"We treat each assisted suicide case in Romulus as a potential homicide investigation," Early said. "We even have had detectives go to the victim's home state (such as Indiana) to follow up on the local investigations."

The official police statement on the assisted suicide last Thursday reported that Haas (walking with a cane) checked into a Romulus hotel (the Fairfield Inn) at 6:20 a.m. that day accompanied by an unidentified woman.

"We treat each assisted suicide case in Romulus as a potential homicide investigation, we even have had detectives go to the victim's home state (such as Indiana) to follow up on the local investigations."

- Lt. David Early

At 7:50 p.m. an anonymous male caller phoned Romulus police and informed them there was a death at the hotel. Police who responded found no note, but were made aware that the caller had instructed them to "call Fieger."

It later was revealed that Fieger said that a new Kevorkian assistant, Dr. Georges Reding of Kalamazoo, had aided the 59-year-old Haas end her life at the hotel. Reding reportedly is a retired psychiatrist and assisted in at least one other assisted suicide (an 82-year-old Detroit woman).

Early said that an autopsy confirmed that Haas was suffering from breast cancer.

Santa's mailbox open in Romulus

Romulus area children are once again being urged to drop their letters to Santa in a special mailbox located right outside the Romulus Public Library.

Children are urged to list what they are hoping for under the Christmas tree. If the children also list their name and address, they will receive a personal letter back from Santa.

Hopson is named chamber's person of the year

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Ron Hopson, longtime Romulus business and political leader, was named last Friday as the 18th annual Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce person of the year.

Hopson, who ironically was one of the chamber's charter board of directors, was notified of his selection at a luncheon meeting with Chamber President Joel Carr and directors Kristine Detroyer, Mark Lewkowicz and Gil White Jr.

Hopson on Monday, revealed he was "quite surprised on being named for this honor. I never ever thought of being nominated."

According to a fact sheet released by the Romulus Chamber, Hopson moved to Romulus at the age of four and was raised on a farm on Harrison road. He attended Romulus Junior and Senior High School and was active in the schools' football teams.

"I played for two of the only undefeated teams in Romulus High history, 1949-50," Hopson said proudly.

Prior to entering the U.S. Army in 1953, Hopson attended the University of Michigan for two years. Later he graduated from the U of M with an engineering degree.

Ron Hopson

Upon his discharge, Hopson joined the Ford Motor Co. as a design engineer. He later owned four Barhops Restaurants, including one that he built and owned in Romulus (now the site of Daly's Restaurant.)

Other store sites were in Belleville, Riveview and Ypsilanti.

Hopson also has owned and operated his own insurance firm, Franklin Life Insurance Co. since 1974.

Hopson (along with Ron Halvin) also was instrumental in starting the Romulus Flyers (Little League) organization and coached one of the teams. He also has been a member of the Romulus Rotary Club

"Ron has great pride in Romulus and it shows through down through the years."

- Joel Carr

since 1960 and has served two and a half years as club president.

Fellow Rotarians say that Hopson has individually and jointly (as a Rotarian) helped many needy Romulus citizens, families and organizations.

He (along with retired Wayne County Hospital Fire Chief Nicky Reel) helped Romulus Township become a city and later helped form the Romulus Chamber in 1978. He also has served as a Salvation Army bell-ringer at various times.

"Ron has great pride in Romulus and it shows through down through the years, as he has voiced his opinions on major issues affecting the city," Carr said.

"If you need him...he is there," Carr added.

He also has served numerous times as Mayor William Oakley's campaign manager.

Hopson is married to Ruth Ann Hopson. He has four children, Brent Hopson, Shawn Samanek, Sue Wright and Bert Smith.

Hopson will be officially honored at an awards banquet on March 20 at the Royce Hotel. Cocktails will be at 6:30 p.m. and dinner will be served an hour later. A $30 donation needs to be paid before March 11th to attend the affair.

Belleville bride, daughter find lice not easy pickings

By LORI GILI FSPJE
MCN Staff Writer

A week before her wedding last year, Jennifer Morse noticed her 2-year old daughter scratching her head, and she discovered that the toddler had head lice.

Morse took the girl to the pediatrician, who advised her to try one of the over-the counter shampoos.

"I tried the shampoos, and the lice would not die," Morse said. "It doesn't kill the nits, and when you shampoo and there are eggs, the medicine goes into the eggs, and they grow immune to it."

A week and five different "remedies" later, including three top-line products (Quell, NIT, and RID), Morse called the National Pediculosis Association for their advice. The non-profit organization deals with head lice and scabbies exclusively. They told the Belleville woman the only way to get rid of the problem was to go through her daughter's hair, strand by strand, and pick the pests out by hand. The only other solution is to shave off all of the child's hair.

Morse said that the shampoos on the market don't actually kill the lice. Instead, the pests become "drugged" from the medication. This slows them down, and makes them easier to catch. But, if you just shampoo, and don't actually take the time to pick the bugs out, the problem will continue once the medicine wears off.

She added that three days after you pick the lice out of your child's hair, you must do it again because the eggs, which are practically microscopic, will have hatched, and you have to pick them out before they have a chance to lay more eggs.

"The night before the wedding, everyone else was setting up the church, and I was picking bugs out of my daughter's hair," Morse said. "I sat her down in front of the television, put her hair up in a clip, and pulled it down with a rat-tail comb. It took me four hours. I had to do it all at once because if I would have stopped in one section, it would have given them a chance to move to a section I had already gone through. Now if you mention to my daughter that she has bugs, she almost cries."

Morse said she sympathizes with those parents who are going through this right now and are being told by doctors that they need to clean their house better, or they are not using the shampoo correctly. "I am anal-retentive when it comes to cleaning," she said. "I vacuumed every day, washed her bedding every day, and even cleaned the baseboards with a toothbrush. None of it worked. Parents need to understand that it's not that they are not vacuuming enough."

After speaking with someone from the NPA, Morse found that the lice die within one to two hours if they don't have a host body because they need the body heat and the blood to survive. She was disturbed to hear that the Van Buren Public School District was going to bomb the buses and two of the elementary schools to stop an outbreak. "It's not going to do them any good to bomb the schools or the buses," she advised. "It's cold at night, so they will die on the buses. And, anything left in the school after the kids leave will die in one to two hours."

Morse said the best thing for the schools to do is for each child to have a bag to place their personal items in to keep the lice from spreading. She added that people need to realize that the lice don't fly or hop, they crawl from place to place.

For more information call the National Pediculosis Association at (617) 449-NITS.

Anchors away!

Canton sailor home for the holidays

The gifts are all beautifully wrapped, the tree is decorated, and its lights are blinking merrily. The smells of fresh pine and cookies scent the December air. All is ready for Christmas and this year a Canton Sailor is spending the holidays in the United States.

Last year, Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Michael S. Palmer spent Christmas deployed overseas aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Antietam. Although the ships served a Christmas dinner while it was underway in the Arabian Gulf, the holiday wasn't the same for Palmer.

"I was underway in the Middle East," said Palmer, the 26-year-old son of Joan Barnett of Canton.

Palmer, a signalman, communicates with other ships, aircraft and shore activities using lights, flags and semaphore (visual equipment). While his job on the Antietam was exciting during the deployment, he is still happy to be able to spend this Christmas in the states.

"I'll be with my wife and soon at our home this holiday season," said Palmer, a 1989 graduate of John Glenn High School.

The Antietam, with its crew of nearly 400 officers and Sailors, is equipped with the latest high-tech radar, combat and propulsion systems. Last year, the 9,600-ton warship was one of more than a dozen U.S. Naval vessels that enforced U.N. sanctions against Iraq as part of Operation Southern Watch during the holidays.

Palmer feels supporting the Navy's mission projecting a forward U.S. presence overseas is extremely important no matter what time of the year it is.

"A show of force is very important in the world today, especially in the Middle East. It doesn't matter what time of the year it is, some leaders will try anything stupid anytime. Deploying overseas during the holidays becomes routine after a few deployments; that's why I'm still in the Navy," said Palmer, an eight-year Navy veteran.

While Palmer is luckily enough to be home for Christmas this year, he knows that thousands of other Sailors will spend the holidays de-played to the Middle East as part of the USS Nimitz and USS George Washington carrier battle group.

"I'm happy to be home and have the chance to be with my family. We will enjoy it very much," Palmer said.

Romulus soldier serving in Asia

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A young Romulus peace-keeper has "dropped into" the central Asian country of Uzbekistan (an independent nation that formerly was part of the U.S.S.R.) just before the Christmas holidays to help local military officers perfect their skills.

Surprisingly Army PFC. Robert J. Knasiak, son of Sharon Knasiak of Romulus, found he was welcomed to the former communist land with open arms by local inhabitants and soon found himself trading tobacco and food with them.

The former Cold War enemies are seen smiling, shaking hands and even at times embracing one another across this extremely dry and barren land.

Knasiak is one of more than 500 U.S. soldiers, who arrived in the land once conquered by Genghis Khan and later Russian troops, and are now helping the inhabitants to become open to a new and free-market society.

Leaders of Uzbekistan opened the doors to the visiting American soldiers so that the local residents could learn about Western society first hand.

Knasiak, a member of the U.S. Army's 82nd Airborne Division from Fort Bragg, N.C., brought his parachute along and used it upon arriving over Chirchik following a non-stop 20-hour flight.

The flight that was aided by three in-air refuelings, climaxed shortly after he and fellow soldiers parachuted from their C-17 and into American military history.

The flight was recorded as the longest associated with an airborne jump.

A short time later the Americans began a peacekeeping training mission, including interactions with the armies of Kazakstan, Uzbekistan, Kyrgystan, Russia, Latvia, Georgia and Turkey.

Glenn students put pennies to use

During the past two weeks, students at John Glenn High School raised $3781 for charity in a very unique way. In addition to their regular holiday canned food drive, 9th grader Steve Tamaraglio suggested that the student council sponsor a school wide "Jar Wars."

Second hour classes competed to see how many pennies they could raise with the winning class receiving a free breakfast.

During the rest of the day students put silver coins and dollar bills in the "enemy" jugs. This money was subtracted from the pennies to determine the total count. Along with Steve, Sean Leonard and Brian DeGorgio counted the donation with the help of a coin counting machine loaned to the school.

At the same time 6th hour classes were competing for a pizza lunch by bringing in non-perishable foods. Students Nicole Robertson and Brain Huber chaired the collection Committee which brought in 1,300 units of food. The winning class gave more than 500 units.

Money and food collected were given to the Civitans and the Salvation Army. Local businesses assisted the school's efforts. Melody Dairy donated milk jugs for the penny collection and Farmer Jack gave grocery bags for food. The National Bank of Detroit in Westland took all of the change, more the 60 bags, waiving the counting charge.

Students learn colors

No it wasn't a lesson in the fashions of the 1970s. It was an experiment to explore the scientific principals behind colors. Students in Christine Diehl and Sam Vicchy's chemistry classes at Belleville High School conducted this experiment on Dec. 17.

They tie-dyed t-shirts to find out why colors are what they are.

Most of us would be surprised to find out the indigo dye that turns blue jeans the deep blue actually starts out yellow.

Diehl said the exposure to the oxygen in the air actually triggers the transformation to the color blue.

Student began the experiment after a brief overview of the history of dying, beginning with the natural animal and vegetable dyes. Then they tie-dyed the shirts, trying to predict the results.

An Eisenhower groupie still gushes, "I like Ike"

My favorite president was, is, and will always be Dwight David Eisenhower.

Ike was also my favorite Republican, an old-fashioned Republican.

My thoughts turned to Eisenhower when Sen. Loren Bennett, a modern Republican, appeared in front of the Wayne-Westland Board of Education to claim credit for helping the district get $3.5 million more than the settlement formula allowed.

Wayne-Westland was one of over 400 districts supposed to receive compensation according to a formula for the state's failure to pay for state-mandated programs for "at risk" pupils.

Apparently local legislators conspired to sneak the extra payment past other districts through the settlement legislation, but Bennett, for reasons not clear to me, decided to go public, perhaps alerting other districts to the inequity.

Tom Kelly, a modern Democrat who signed the legislation and therefore could've taken a large share of the credit, stayed out of the limelight, fearing that other districts would accuse him of favoritism toward Wayne-Westland.

With Kelly wisely maintaining silence, Bennett hogged the limelight.

This is where Eisenhower comes in. I think of the ways in which he contrasts with modern Republicans. First of all, Ike was no grandstander. Though he commanded the winning troops to victory in World War II, perhaps the greatest feat of the century, if not all time, he took little public credit.

Secondly, by generally adhering to Republican principles, such as protectionism, closed borders, and a foreign policy based on American, not global, interests, Eisenhower achieved unparalleled peace and prosperity.

In contrast, Bennett lacks the modesty to let others crow about his good deeds, and like most Republicans, he lacks principles. The lack of distinct Republican principles ticks me off more than grandstanding.

After all, grandstanding may be childish, but it doesn't hurt anybody. But the lack of distinct party principles makes it hard for our democracy to function.

How can we continue to take elections seriously when Michigan Republicans fail to offer voters a meaningful choices because they blur the issues?

Take the school issue. Tom Kelly represents the Democratic position, which is to fund public schools come hell or high water. This is a legitimate, popular position on which Kelly talks the talk and walks the walk.

Republicans, on the other hand, are ostensibly for holding schools accountable and for fostering competition, another legitimate position. Gov. John Engler proclaims himself a Republican when he says that he champions charter schools. Republican governors in neighboring Illinois, Ohio, and Wisconsin have all attempted to hold schools accountable.

But if all our local Republicans can do is offer voters in Canton and Westland a weak echo of the Democrats' position, then voters are disenfranchised because they have no choice.

Unfortunately, the Republican party has come a long way from the principled party of Ike, who left office warning the country about the military-industrial-complex, the best advice since George Washington warned Americans to avoid foreign entanglements in his "Farewell Address."

Now we have Republicans like Bennett, who agree with Democrats that unaccountable schools deserve as much money as their local legislators can hustle for them. If that's the choice, I prefer real Democrat like Tom Kelly, not pretend ones.

But I would prefer to vote for a conservative Republican like Eisenhower. I like Ike.

Kids run wild, authorities do nothing

To the editor:

We live in north Inkster and are absolutely disgusted with the goings on here and the total impotence of our police department. Take a drive through our neighborhood on any given day and see the number of school aged kids roaming the streets when they are supposed to be in school. When I was a kid there was something called "truancy" and if a kid didn't show up in school, a truancy officer would come and get him. It was a law that a kid be schooled.

When we asked our child's school (John Glenn High School) why they don't enforce truancy their reply was, and I quote, "we don't like to do that". So the result is 12 to 16 year old kids roaming the streets, smoking cigarettes (which is also illegal the last I heard) and getting into trouble. Does the police department do anything about it either? Ha, Ha!

There is a drug house on our street (one of about three) that a lot of kids hang out at every day. I have personally made numerous complaints about it And do you know what I was told by one of our bold new patrol officers? I'll quote again, "we can't just kick down doors, You have to prove it". What the hell is this knucklehead getting paid to do anyway? We have a mother in the area who has stated her kid won't get in trouble for anything because she has a friend at the Inkster court. Well she's absolutely right. Her kids was reported for injuring an innocent passerby by shooting and hitting him with a paint ball gun. It wasn't an ordinary paint ball, but one that had been frozen solid in a freezer. The latest incident occurred with the same kid. He was stopped with a shotgun in his possession after allegedly threatening another kid with it.

What did the police do with him? You won't believe this, I still can't. They told him to "wait here" while they took the gun and went to question the victim. Needless to say what happened to him. Just like mom promised, nothing. This kid is a one man crime spree but because mom has a friend in our court, this is how the police handle it. This is the service we pay so dearly for with our hard earned money through our taxes.

I thought our police department had been "cleaned up." I personally know one of the undercover agents who helped indict former Inkster officers. This city is in sorry shape and only getting worse. I'm ashamed to tell anyone I live here. And these delinquent kids whose parents don't give a damn are the ones who run this city and the police can't or in the case of this kid, won't do a darn thing about it. Wake up people. These youths are going to be the ones running our country someday. I hope I don't live long enough to see it!

Very sincerely
Disgusted Citizen

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN by PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

International Relations

Strengthened by Strange Customs

Dear Percy: My next door neighbors are immigrants from Russia. Nice people and hard working. They have one child about a year old. She's very frail, having suffered from a premature birth with complications. In the four years we've been neighbors, the wife's greatest dream is to go back to Russia for a visit. She happens to have been a menopausal baby herself so her parents are quite elderly. Her baby is healthy enough to travel now and they had been saving for a 2 week trip. They scrimped and saved, doing without, just so they could go home and share the joy of their first born. She's done odd jobs for me, as has her husband (I'm a widow). Last week she was taking the $600 they had earned to the bank when she was mugged and robbed. Broad daylight mind you, in a not-so-bad part of town. Now my little Russian friends can not make the trip and the sadness in the wife's eyes is more than I can bear. I suppose if I were a true Christian I would short myself and give them the money. My children would never forgive me, so I'm doing the next best thing by writing you.

Mrs. R. M.... American News,
Montevideo, MN

Dear Mrs. M.: When your neighbors make their trip to Russia, they can explain to their countrymen that in America there are two types of people: those who take and those who give. Count yourself among the latter group because I'm mailing $600 so you can present it to your neighbors. And if they balk at your generosity, just tell them it's another one of those strange American customs to right a wrong and help your fellowman.

Dear Percy Ross: I have a list of Elf only's" 20 miles long. You know, if only I had married someone else. If only I had graduated from high school. If only I had waited to have children. If only I hadn't rewarded myself with chocolate and gained 75 pounds over the last 10 years. I'm 27, divorced, have 3 kids, no education and am overweight. I finally realized that the secret to getting what I want is education. My logic is if I get an education, I can get a decent job. With a decent job I won't have to depend on an ex-husband who doesn't understand that the only way to pay child support is to work. As for my weight, I figure with my new found selfesteem, I'll shed these unwanted pounds. I can get my education subsidized by grants, but have no money to buy books. My first year alone, books will run $435. By the way, I have one more if only to add-if only I had written Percy Ross a lot sooner.

Ms. J. B.... The News, Saginaw, MI

Dear Ms.B.: You don't have the corner stone on having an endless list of "if only's" (I.O.'s). But what happens if I were to put a "U" on the end of that? Well, suddenly I'd have an I.O.U., which explains why I'm sending $435. It's not that I owe you the money, but I do owe you the chance to make a better life. Best wishes for success.

Christmas wishes supported

To the editor:

I would heartfully like to express my most sincere and truly deep appreciation re: relative, to, of, and for the ongoing annual Christmas Wish Project. Many prayers, warm high fives, and endless supply of kudos to MCN, businesses, community organizations, residents and everyone involved. All who work hard, very conscientiously, most diligently time and again, progressively ever forward, thus keeping the precious spirits and meanings, which are priceless, alive and fruitfully successful.

Many personal needs could be sincerely mentioned. Some are, in may ways vitally important, of due concern in being so addressed. We have to love and care for one another.

However, in some connective light, may it be stated with hopes and prayers and all very due respects, may as many as possible requested wishes and dreams being sent to MCN become a radiant reality.

Thank you sincerely in love, hope and prayer:

WQRS demise leaves void

To the editor:

What is the purpose of National Public Radio? WDET-FM advertises itself as the "alternative" music radio station where you can find music that is not commercially available elsewhere.

But the station manager says she has no interest in taking up the slack produced by the demise of WQRS.

Why not? The cultural community should address its attention now to WDET Write and call the Wayne State University Board of Governors. They are elected folks perhaps more responsive than a university employee.

Congratulations to conservationists

Michigan Community Newspapers, along with national, state, county and local leaders, sends its granulations to the Huron Valley Conservation Association on its 30th anniversary.

When the group was founded in 1967 by a group of local sportsmen its focus was the protection of Belleville Lake and its surrounding environment.

While the HVCA continues to focus its attention on preserving the lake and enhancing the area surrounding it, the local association has broadened its influence to include an active youth program.

Believing that the future of the HVCA -- and for any club or organization -- is in the youth of today, the association is pursuing an active program for youngsters and teens.

During the past several years, the HVCA has sent young people to the Michigan United Conservation Club's Youth Camp, provided Tracks magazine to area schools, sponsored annual fishing clinics and hunter safety courses and has organized field trips to Crosswinds Marsh, Lake Erie and Oakwoods Metroparks and Belle Isle plus canoe outings, museum visits and nature study events.

We congratulate the Huron Valley Conservation Association on 30 years of service to the area through its educational programs and its joint efforts with governmental units to promote conservation education.

We especially recognize and encourage their work with youth -- those who will bring the message of conservation into the 21st century and beyond.

Who is McNamara's puppet? Not Patterson

To the editor:

Have you heard the rumors? Sure you have. They are all over the street. This politician is running for that office and that politician is running for this one in 1998. My copy of the Dec. 4-10, 1997 Romulus Roman had editorials, columns and stories about different candidates running for office next year.

Well, perhaps that is why I, and others, have heard certain vicious comments from Mayor Oakley about our Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson. The Mayor has accused Bruce of being ineffective. But is that the case, or is Mayor Bill just the puppet of Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara.

And, doesn't this really play into the judicial campaign of Mayor Bill's son, Brian. After all, one of the rumors that was circulating was that Commissioner Patterson was considering a run at the judgeship of Henry Zaborowski. Who among us believes that young Brian Oakley could beat an experienced attorney like Commissioner Patterson in a race in the 34th District?

It is sad to say, but clearly Mayor Bill is attempting to "feather his nest" at the expense of Bruce Patterson's reputation. Commissioner Patterson has worked tirelessly throughout the District winning wide acclaim from newspaper writers, local leaders, and just plain folks like me. Has Mayor Bill helped to get anything done about the terrible airport noise we have to endure? No! He doesn't even attend the meetings.

Next time you see Mayor Bill Oakley, ask him who he thinks is doing a better job--Ed McNamara or Bruce Patterson. Then ask him what he thinks about the Romulus zoning law changes Ed McNamara wants so that he is empowered to create his 'Grand Trade Corridor' concept. I bet Oakley supports those zoning changes.

Can Bill Oakley name a better Wayne County Commissioner? If he offers an opinion ask him to explain why this individual is better than Commissioner Patterson. Also, ask the Mayor if he thinks the previous Commissioner was better for the 11th District. After all, it was that guy, Commissioner Brian Ammann, who came off of Ed McNamara's personal staff and wrote the Noise Mitigation program (Plan 150) that the FAA later approved and now we are forced to live with and endure.

Mayor Oakley, tell the people the truth. You are in the pocket of Ed McNamara because you are afraid of him, so every time he says 'roll over' you do and for that little trick he gives you a little bone as a treat.

Now, your trick is to get your son, Brian, elected judge so that you can further the Oakley Dynasty. Well, I am going to call you on that one. Listen up neighbors, those rumors you are hearing can be traced right back to Mayor William (Just call Bill) Oakley and they sound like dirty politics to this listener. What do they sound like to you?

Parents unite for parking

To the editor:

There is an issue at hand in which our community is not working together to protect our children. I think this is an important issue that others in our community need to be aware of. Would you please print this in the next issue of your paper? Thank you in advance for your concern for our children regarding this matter.

Free Spirit Day Care is located at Wayne County Community College. This is a 24-hour-a-day child care service. Many parents depend on being able to use the service at Free Spirit. Most day care programs close their doors at 6 p.m. This poses a dilemma for parents that work later or that work second or third shift. The 24-hour day care is widely used because parents need this service.

The Wayne County Community College is currently making it difficult for parents that take their children to Free Spirit. The college has in the past allowed the parents to park in the few spaces in front for visitors and handicapped when they are dropping off and picking up their children. The College has now decided to not allow parents this luxury. Parents are on busy schedules, but this is not the only reason this is causing a problem for the parents. There are a great number of children that are being picked up, and dropped off during times when it is dark outside. The walk from the lot is a good distance, it is not visible from the front doors, and the guard is unable to see the parents walking up. This is an unsafe situation. Most of the parents are female, but regardless, when one is carrying a baby it would be hard to protect themselves if someone were to assault them. Many of the parents have multiples children at the day care. One family in particular has a set of infant twins and a toddler. It is not only the parents that are being put at risk. The children of our community are being put at risk exiting and entering a facility that houses their child care provider. The parents have rallied together to form "Parents for Results" to advocate for the safety of their children.

Church News

A new contemporary-style Canton church, having just completed a massive phone survey of the non-churched residents of the township, plans to open its services at the Summit on the Park in January.

Senior Pastor Mike Norton, now a Canton resident, said printed informational packets will be mailed soon to about 1,700 families (90 percent listed as unchurched) in the greater Canton area alerting them to the evangelical Christian church's opening at 10:30 a.m. Jan. 11.

In addition to Canton residents, Norton said, the surveyers also called residents on the fringes of Wayne and Westland.

The services will be thematic — using a basic theme through an entire service and incorporating high energy Christian praise and worship music and dramatic elements, Norton said.

The new contemporary services are being created to attract those who have long said that church is "too boring."

Norton announced also that Peter Dodge of Belleville has been named as the church's music minister. Previously Dodge served in a similar capacity at the Community United Methodist Church of Romulus, Open Heart Ministries of Belleville and Trinity Wesleyan of Southgate.

Also named to the young staff are: Howard Matthews, youth services director, of Canton; and Andrew Schleicher, administrative assistant, from Van Buren Township.

Norton revealed the new church is being called The Canton Friendship Church, affiliated with the United Methodist Church. It has rented the Walnut Room at the Summit for the Sunday morning services, and three other rooms for nursery and children's ministries.

The church's administrative office is located at 6112 N. Canton Center road in Canton.

For more information call Norton at 451-2100.

A Peanut Butter Christmas musical presentation is planned at Victory Baptist Church in Belleville at 6 p.m. Dec. 21.

According to John Moore, "whether you like your peanut butter smooth or crunchy," you will enjoy this story about a family who get stranded in a blizzard on Christmas day and ultimately learn the real meaning of Christmas.

Following the presentation, those in attendance will be invited to share cookies and peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, Moore reported.

Peter Dodge

The public is invited to attend the presentation. The church is located on Savage road, one half mile east of the 5 Points intersection.

The Wayne-Westland Salvation Army has launched a $110,000 fund drive this holiday season to help provide food and toy baskets for needy area families this Christmas.

Capt. Mark Welsh, corps commander, said the funds will also be used to provide emergency food, shelter and clothing year round.

Last year's goal was $100,000, Welsh said, and that was surpassed by $3,000. Thus this year's goal was raised by 10 percent.

In addition SA volunteers will be visiting nursing homes to deliver holiday gifts and cheer, Welsh said.

This SA corps serves Wayne, Westland and Romulus.

SA volunteers also will be ringing bells at the red kettles through Christmas eve. Additional volunteers may call 722-3660 to determine volunteer time schedules, he said.

Checks also can be mailed to the Salvation Army, 2300 Venoy road in Westland, 48186.

Area pastors, who are or wish to get involved in the growing international Christian men's movement known as Promise Keepers, are being invited to a free regional clergy conference in Indianapolis, Ind. on March 12.

Last year PK conducted one massive clergy conference in Atlanta, but now has decided to offer nine across the U.S. to cut down on the travel time pastors need to spend to get and return from such conferences.

Founder Bill McCartney said the conferences are being offered to "gather a diverse group of Christian clergy for personal spiritual renewal, for a continual challenge to reconciliation, for building community relationships through prayer and for positioning the church for revival."

Pastors need to call the toll free number of 1-800-888-7595 to register at least five weeks in advance.

An Alzheimers Disease support group has been formed at the St. John Neumann Catholic Church of Canton. The next meeting is slated for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18. The sessions are facilitated by social worker Rosemarie Shim, who has worked with such patients and families for 14 years.

A Sunday school Christmas Eve Pageant is slated for 6:30 p.m. Dec. 24 at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of New Boston.

Later that night, a candle-light Christmas Eve service will be conducted at 11 p.m. A Christmas Day service is also slated at 10 a.m.

The church, located at Ellis and Craig streets, also will offer a New Years Eve service.

A Christmas musical program Three Wise Men and a Baby will be performed at 6 p.m. Dec. 21 at the Alpha Baptist Church, 28051 W. Chicago Street, Livonia.

The children's choir from St. Mary's Catholic Church of Wayne (grades 5 to 8) has been accepted to perform at the EP-COT Center in Disney World from May 21-24, 1998.

New Year's Eve options abound

Bob Harris

That Bob Harris, what a guy, you can't take him anywhere without someone recognizing him, or telling a story involving him or someone he has worked with. Bob and I were at Greg's Bar and Grill on Palmer and Merriman where Ron Cameron's name came up. You might remember Ron, a former writer for the Michigan Community Newspapers, as the Super Fan, who has a radio show on WXYZ, several TV shows including one on ch. 20 with former Tiger pitcher Denny McClain as his co-host.

Well it turns out Ron had worked there, which lead to some funny stories probably best left at the bar not here in our column. So, Ron now has a radio station in southern California, Bob Harris is concentrating on increasing the distribution of the Eyewitness and Michigan Community Papers, and ME, still playing in the Benny and Jets Band, listening to Bob's stories, while we writes this column and my

Wayne, Salem make immediate impact

'Riches-to-rags' champs win pair

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Wayne Memorial may be the riches-to-rags team some high school hoop prognosticators pick them to be this year, but their predicted turnaround didn't happen the first week of the 1997-98 season.

Looking more like the team that won three consecutive Mega Conference Red Division titles and made three successive appearances in the Class A state quarterfinals, Wayne had that magical touch - and more - to dispatch Plymouth-Canton into the loss column, 60-48, in the season opener.

Then, on Friday, before a packed house in the Wayne basketball arena, coach Chuck Henry's hung on to beat a tenacious Westland John Glenn 56-50 to make it two straight.

The victory also gave Wayne the bragging rights in the Wayne-Westland School District for the fourth straight year.

"It was a nice way to begin the season," said Henry, who is rebuilding a team that lost all five of last year's starters that carried the team to a first-ever appearance in the state semis before losing to state champ, Grand Rapids Ottawa.

It isn't going to get any easier for the defending champ.

Wayne will begin the defense of its divisional title Friday night at Ypsilanti High School. The Braves are one of four divisional newcomers, (River Rouge, Inkster, and Willow Run are the others).

The Zebras will be on the road for the first time this year when they travel to Ypsilanti.

On Dec. 27, Wayne has a non-conference duel in Birmingham where they will clash with one of the better Catholic League teams in Brother Rice. During the holidays, Wayne also will be playing in Cobo Hall, in the Superintendent's Holiday Tournament, hosted by the Detroit Superintendent of Schools.

In the opener against Canton, a 10-0 Wayne run early in the fourth quarter broke Canton's attempt at a comeback.

Plymouth-Salem coach Bob Brodie makes his point to his players, who for some inexplicable and strange reason appeared for their season hoop opener with clean-shaven heads. After their first two games, the Rocks also were red-faced, losing both contests. Someone should have reminded them about a Biblical strong-man by the name of Samson who lost everything after an encounter with a Biblical beauty by the name of Delilah. Salem returned to action Tuesday night hosting Belleville and isn't scheduled to play until Dec. 27 when the Rocks will compete in the Grosse Ile Holiday Invitational. ## Hell of a week for Rocks

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It was one hell of a week for Plymouth-Salem's Rocks and their veteran coach Bob Brodie.

And another one like it and you can bet that Brodie will be making some drastic changes in his starting lineup.

Salem, picked as one of the top teams to watch in the area during the 1997-98 hoop season, apparently choked in its first two starts. No, not the La-trell Sprewell kind of choke, but like in "opening night jitters", and that led to atypical (for Salem) back-to-back losses to Monroe (the opener) and Ann Arbor Huron.

And if you just happened to step on terra firma from Mars, Sprewell, late of the Golden State Warriors, is the franchise player who had his $32 million NBA contract nullified because he said that he was going to slam dunk the ball into his coach, P.J. Carlesimo's, windpipe.

While Sprewell was breathing heavy with apology-after-apology in hopes of resurrecting his contract, Brodie was out of breath trying to put some life into his team that suffered a 66-59 setback at the hands of Monroe last Tuesday and dropped dead (for all purposes) in the fourth quarter and lost a 60-54 decision to Ann Arbor Huron.

That is not the way the season was supposed to go for Brodie or the Rocks.

The loss to Huron apparently hurt twice as much (if that's possible) because the Rocks enjoyed a 11-point lead before their collapse.

Commenting afterward, an obviously disappointed Brodie noted that his team didn't execute or play at the intensity of its capabilities.

In fact, he said, "We didn't play at all."

Brodie went on to offer that, "We can't just show up for games. We got to play them. There are no cakewalks in this schedule, and our kids better understand that."

Salem did lead by two after the first two periods against Monroe. The Rocks were up 16-14 and managed to protect their two-point margin at the half (30-28). But a horrendous third period when the Rocks were outscored 20-9 and guard Jeremy Griffin's eight of game-high 22 points led to their demise.

Salem managed to place two players in double figures. Jeff McKian had 12, and Matt Mair tossed in 10.

On the positive-side, Salem

Vikings win mat opener, Wayne 3rd at Carlson tourney

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

While Inkster was busy pinning its first-ever victory on the mats in its new home, the Mega Conference Blue Division, Wayne Memorial, on the other hand, got down to business and finished third at the annual Gibraltar Carlson Wrestling Invitational.

Inkster destroyed Crestwood in their first-ever divisional wrestling contest, 48-21.

"It's a great feeling to win in a new conference," said Inkster coach Sam Ellis. "You know this is a first also in that neither the girls' basketball or the boys' football team managed to win in their respective divisions of the conference."

Inkster was accepted into the Mega Conference family at the beginning of the school year.

The Vikings posted victories in nine of the 13 weight classes against Crestwood. The Inkster victories went to Chauncey Darden (112), Robert Hudson (119), Quinton Hutton (130), Mike Franklin (135), Marlin Franklin (152), Ashante Walton (160), James Barney (171), Chris Tomlinson (215) and heavyweight Jonathan Mills.

On Saturday, Ellis and his grapplers were invited to compete in the Garden City Invitational where all nine of the Vikings grapplers won first-round matches, but faltered after the opening round.

"It was probably the best first-round of any team that I have ever coached. All nine of my wrestlers won and advanced to the second-round," said Ellis. "Unfortunately, we fell apart after that."

The Vikings managed to come away with a medal thanks to Michael Franklin's performance. He finished fourth in the 125-pound class. In a field of 17 teams, Inkster wound up 14th.

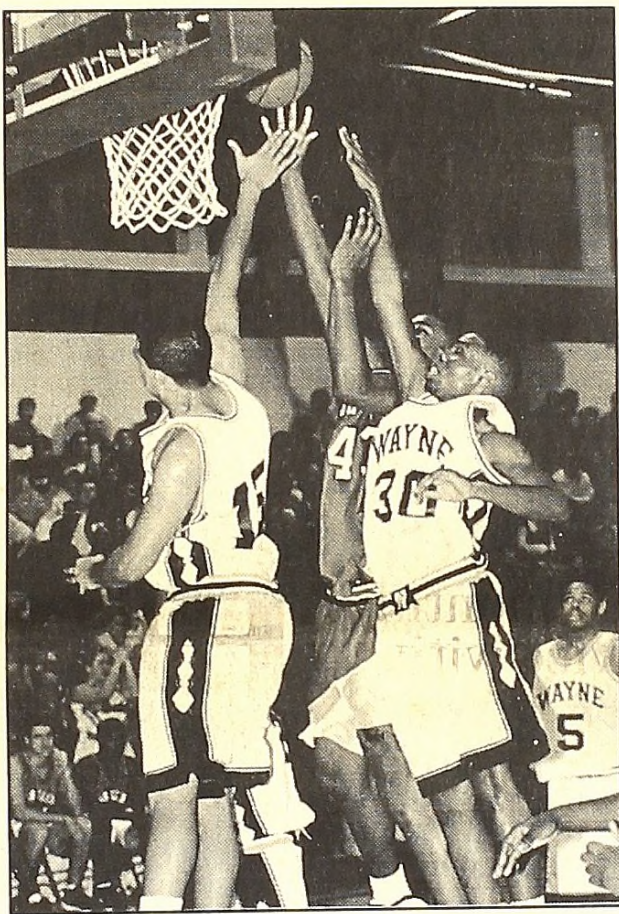

Northville dominated the GC tourney with 215.5 points, while Livonia Stevenson was runnerup (139) and Dearborn Heights Annapolis had 135.5 points.

Off of their performance at Garden City, Annapolis could be the new Blue Division wrestling king. The new alignment includes Highland Park, Wil-

DeYampert, Hicks ride shotgun for Romulus' speedy stagecoach

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Behind a pair of 23-point performances by sharpshooters Brandon DeYampert and Melvin Hicks, Romulus shot down Ann Arbor Pioneer 92-57 in the season's basketball opener for both teams.

The fast-moving Romulus stagecoach, which made a brief stop Tuesday night at Dearborn Heights Robichaud for a crossover Mega Conference showdown, will not have time to rest for it's due for a big stress test Friday night.

That's when head coach Guy

DeGiudice and the Eagles drive over to River Rouge, where they will find one of the best, if not the best (in any class) team in the state of Michigan this year.

The Panthers will host the initial showdown between the two Mega Conference Red Division powers.

"We have read a lot about them," said DeGiudice, referring to Rouge, "and I am sure they have heard a lot about us. This will be an interesting match up."

DeYampert and Hicks eliminated the suspense element in the Huron game early. The Eagles soared to a 19-6 first-period DeYampert and Hicks led the way.

At the halfway mark, Romulus had a 15-point cushion (37-22) which allowed DeGiudice to sub indiscriminately most of the second half. With Reggie Kirkland and Myron Gray joining the shoot-out, Romulus increased its lead 62-35 for three-periods before outscoring their visitors 30-20 in the final eight minutes.

DeYampert, a 6-2 senior forward, nailed 23 points and also

Robichaud spoils Graham's debut as Inkster coach

2nd half rally lifts Bulldogs

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Leave it to Robichaud to spoil things for Inkster.

Coach Monte Dennard's Bulldogs outscored the Vikings 24-15 in the second period of their season opener Friday night...no it wasn't a matinee game...to erase a 16-15 first period lead and went on to win an 81-68 victory over their natural rivals.

The game, originally scheduled to be played at 3:30 p.m., was switched to the traditional 7:30 p.m. hour by officials who apparently had failed to notify the game referees when the game was to be played.

The game also had two notable sidebars - the Robichaud victory spoiled the coaching debut of first-year Inkster coach Hilton Graham; it also was the first encounter between the two traditional rivals in the Mega Conference. (Inkster is in the Mega Red, while Robichaud will compete in the White Division).

Dennard said he was pleased with his team's effort "after the opening quarter when they had settled down and got focused."

"We had problems early on. Made too many mistakes, but corrected them later on," Dennard added.

Graham said that he saw more positive than negative in his team's initial performance.

"The kids did not give up," the Viking coach stressed. "We had some problems in the second quarter, but we came back strong in the second half."

Behind balanced scoring by a foursome of Inkster players - Joe Allison, Tom Cunningham, Greg Watson and Michael Williams, the Vikings worked to a 16-15 edge after the first eight minutes, but Robichaud, concentrating on its inside game, came back on the strength of 6-3 forward Jason Malloy and point guard Daymon Williams.

The Bulldogs outscored their hosts 24-15 in the second period to go up 39-31 at halftime. Although they could not shake the Vikings, Robichaud never surrendered the lead in the second half. For three periods, Robichaud had a 10-point (59-49) bulge, then inflated the cushion with a 22-19 scoring edge in the finale.

Williams poured in 17 points for the winners, which had to contend with a highly-regarded Romulus Tuesday night. Malloy kept his athletic star sparkling as he accounted for 12 points and swept the glass for 12 rebounds. Davron Gray added 10 points for the winners.

Inkster put four players in double digits with Watson's 14 as tops for the team. Williams and Allison checked in with 12, while Cunningham finished with 10.

Robichaud also had an edge at the free throw line where the Bulldogs made 26 of their 38 opportunities as compared to Inkster's seven of 20 effort.

Robichaud will continue to test the Red Division powers. After meeting coach DeGiudice's Eagles Tuesday night, the Bulldogs have to contend with Willow Run, which also jumped from the now defunct Suburban Athletic Conference to the Mega Red.

The Vikings then will have to wait until Dec. 26 for their next test which will occur at the Highland Park Holiday Tournament.

Westland skaters capture Little Caesar's tourney title

Not only do they excel in hockey, but the Westland Canucks also are standouts in the classroom.

With more than half of the lineup boasting a 3.0 or better average academically, head coach Randy Brooks and manager Jim Fritz have placed on the ice a winning and an intelligent cadre of skaters on the ice this hockey season.

The Canucks recently showed what they can do, in hockey, at the Little Caesar's season opening tournament. The Westlanders outscored their opponents 24-3 in capturing the first-place trophy after a sizzling all-around team performance, according to Fritz.

In their first game of the tournament, the Canucks shut out Livonia's Devils, 4-0, in the opener. Then, they traveled to St. Clair Shores where they met a team that was ready for them in the Redford Senators.

In a heated contest, Westland came back from a 3-2 deficit to score three unanswered goals in the final six minutes to post a 5-3 victory.

The three goals that the champs gave up against Redford would become the only three scored upon them during the rest of the tournament.

The Canucks moved on to meet Mt. Clemens' Firebirds. They dispatched their rivals into the loss column, 6-0, before moving on to the semifinals where they clashed with the Keonasha Komets at the Ice Box.

Westland launched the Comets into orbit, with a 5-0 loss tied to its tail.

Three consecutive Westland victories earned the Canucks a shot at the tournament title. Waiting for them in the championship round was the Caledon Hills Lightning, a club from Ontario.

The Canadians were no match for their counterparts in Westland as the Canucks again shut out their opponents 4-0 to wrap up the championship at the Ann Arbor Ice Cube.

Managers and coaches awarded Westlander Dylan Grube, the Canucks' outstanding goaltender, the MVP award.

The champs were led on defense by assistant captain Alex McLellan, Aaron Schwartz, Sterling Brooks, Ryan Sergison, Jim Rawson and Matt Billingsley.

The forwards on the tournament-winning Westland team included captain Brent Newsted, assistants Bill Fritz, Chris Horn, and Tony LaPere.

Other standouts on the team are forwards Darrell Platukas, Jeff Ruark, Ryan Ballinger, Jon Birchard, Ryan Murphy, Nick Simmons, John Thornhill, and Dave Tonegatto.

Team coaches include head coach Randy Brooks and assistant coaches Ken Newsted, Don Milligan, Jeff Bohnwagner and team manager Jim Fritz.

Hawkeye star Ex-Glenn pivotman receives award

Former Westland John Glenn basketball star Guy Rucker has been named the recipient of the Lohaus Men's Basketball Scholarship at the University of Iowa, school officials announced this week.

Rucker, who earned All-Area and All-Star recognition while playing for the Rockets, is an Inkster resident.

The 6-9 pivotman, who knows how to put up the threes, is one of 39 athletes who were awarded scholarships.

Athletic Directors Bob Bowley and Christine Grant announced the names of the scholarship last week in conjunction with the first-round of the Super Chevy Shootout Basketball Tournament.

"The generosity of fans who have chosen to create these scholarships helps solidify the future of Hawkeye athletics," said Mark Jennings, director of development for intercollegiate sports.

In the meantime, Wayne and coach Dave Davis traveled to the Gibraltar Carlson Invitational over the weekend and picked up a third-place trophy. The Wolfpack finished third to Grosse Ile and Carlson in a field of 16 teams.

Wayne did produce one champ at Carlson. Jonathan Gregg turned back Craig Anderson of Grosse Ile in a close contest, 7-5, in the 112-pound category.

Keith Britt clinched a silver medal at 145, losing the gold to

New Boston Huron's Ryan Honiker, 14-6, while teammates Jason Sienko (135) and Rob Theisen (152) earned bronze medals.

Davis and the Wolfpack get down to the serious business of Mega Conference competition tonight when they host visiting Dearborn in the White Division opener for both schools.

contributed eight rebounds, four assists and also had an equal number of steals.

Hicks, who also shares a forward spot with DeYampert, shared team scoring honors with 23. He picked off four rebounds.

Kirkland scored 13 points and chipped in seven rebounds while Gray finished with nine points and seven rebounds.

However, Huron's Lavelle Blanchard walked off the floor with individual scoring honors. The junior forward finished with 28 points.

"I felt it was a good win for us," said DelGiudice, who singled out the third period as "pivotal."

"We not only outscored them by 12 (in the third), but we played defense, and executed well."

Rags

Brian Williams drilled 13 of his game-high 22 points in the first half to stake Wayne to leads of 21-11 and 33-24 that they never relinquished. Late in the game, the Chiefs made their move behind junior guard Joe Cortellini, but it was too little and too late.

Cortellini, touted as one of the best junior guards in the state this year, turned in a superlative 21-point performance for the evening.

Canton came within seven of catching their hosts at the end of the third period. But

Rodney Borkins came up with two big baskets and Wayne closed out the third with a 50-37 advantage, then came back in the fourth with 10 unanswered points to salt the game away.

Dan McClean and Eric Larsen each scored 10 for the Chiefs.

Wayne dealt Glenn an early setback as Williams again came back with another strong performance. The 6-2 senior fired in eight of Wayne's 13 first-period points to lift them to a 13-9 lead. He added four more in a 26-22 advantage in the next frame.

Glenn led twice, by one-point, in the first half, but a 16-10 Wayne third period protected the hosts in the stretch.

Though the Rockets, thanks to sturdy performances by sophomores Eric Jones and Yaku Moton, kept within range, they never could muster enough scoring power to overtake their natural rivals.

Jones and Moton, two players that Glenn will build on, finished with 16 and 14 points. Williams who had 12 points at the half, wound up with individual scoring honors with 21. He canned seven of 10 free throws. Teammate Karl Calloway, who made five of six at the clutch free throws in the fourth quarter, chipped in with 11 points and six rebounds. Teammate Quentin Turner also swept the boards for six rebounds and scored seven points.

Brodie

looked good at the free throw line where the Rocks capitalized on 11 of 14 opportunities. Monroe connected on 19 of 26.

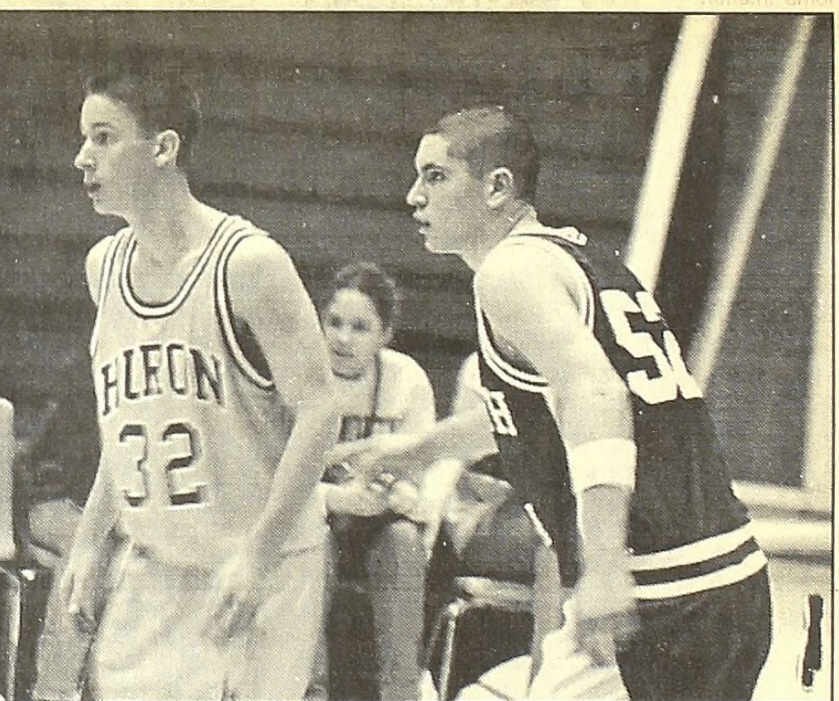

Up 21-13 at the end of the first period against a Huron team that appeared ripe for picking, the Rocks managed to build leads of 39-24 and 50-39 in the second and third periods, before the great fall.

Huron outscored their visitors 21-4 in the final stanza to stash away a 60-54 victory.

The Rocks wasted Andy Power's 19 points. They got 11 from senior Bhavin Patel.

Huron responded with three players in double figures. Lavar Sommerville scored 17 points. Raval Hunter and Nate Johns tossed in 14 and 11 points for the winners.

Brodie and the Rocks had another tough one Tuesday night. They were home for the first time this season to entertain (or be entertained) by Belleville. Belleville was seeking to make it two in a row after whipping Windsor in their opener.

After the Tuesday night encounter, the Rocks have a 11-day hiatus from the hoop wars. However, they will return to the hardwood on Dec. 27 when they will play in the Grosse Ile Holiday Tournament.

The Rocks drew Allen Park Cabrini in the tourney opener, scheduled for 7:30. The winner of the Salem-Cabrini contest takes on the winner of the Gabriel Richard-Grosse Ile game.

The tournament championship will be decided on Dec. 29.

Sierra combines style with toughness, dependability

When you are thinking of a dependable powerful truck, think GMC. The 1998 GMC Sierra is both youthful and aggressive with the toughness buyers demand. This pickup is for individuals who seek superior dependability in a powerful rugged truck.

GMC thought of everything when designing this one. Push button (on the fly) four-wheel drive, so you can go from on to off-roading effortlessly.

The Sierra is built tough, I put it through all kinds of abuse, and it handled with grace and ease. It didn't matter if I were driving on a regular surface street or four-wheeling up muddy hills, I had no problem with this one and I didn't get stuck once.

When observing the exterior of this one, you get a good idea of just how solidly this truck is built. The sporty appearance with the flared fenders just enhances the overall package.

Just open up the doors in this truck, (all three of them) and you can see all of the room that you'll have once inside. Plenty of leg and head room, and even a back seat that can fit two or even three passengers. Then hop in and look at all of the electronic bells and whistles. Sierra has it all. And every gizmo was power, the seats the mirrors, the windows, locks, etc...

Plus, as an added bonus, the back of the cab offered extra cargo space for groceries, golf clubs or whatever your needs might be. You can carry just about anything in the cab instead of having your items roll around in the bed.

For a 4x4, the interior was plush, not necessarily what one would expect for a utility truck. The door panels and seats were adorned with colorful fabric and the comfort was uncompromising. Then I got to the stereo which had premium sound quality. The music just echoed all around the cab.

When you think of a truck with most all of the features standard, think GMC. I could not believe that most everything in this truck came standard except the compact disc player, that's a little bit extra. The list includes: air bags, air conditioning, daytime running lamps, Scotchgard fabric protector, intermittent wipers, power windows, doors, and locks, and the list goes on. However they are too numerous to mention.

The Sierra interior was designed "from the inside out" with the driver and passengers in mind. An ergonomically designed instrument panel, contoured seats, and high quality trim give the Sierra a fresh contemporary look, as well as a high level of comfort and convenience. Also, an extensive noise reduction system gives the Sierra cab a quiet environment by reducing from the drive train, chassis and wind.

An available third door brings a greater level of convenience to the Sierra extended cab model. It gives you unobstructed passenger side access to the rear compartment. The door swings out easy for loading and unloading of cargo.

One of the deterrents I found with this truck is that it sits up real high, and for the averaged sized women who is using this truck to go back and forth to work in, I thought it was very hard to get in and out of without running boards. In my opinion, that should be a standard feature, not an option.

My test car was powered by a V-8 engine with 230 horsepower at 4600 rpm's and 285 ft lbs of torque at 2800 rpm's. This baby really hauled! No problem passing on the freeway or moving from a dead stop. This truck offered all of the power you could ever need for everyday driving.

The gas mileage was good considering it was a V-8 and a 4x4. It got 22 miles per gallon in the city, and about 29 on the highway. Base price of this vehicle was about $24,000 and as tested $26,400.

The 1998 GMC Sierra pickup is for the individualist pursuing an active lifestyle and seeking superior dependability in a powerful, rugged truck.

YMCA focuses on post-holiday fitness

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

The holidays are here! It's time to decorate, bake, visit with family and friends, shop for Christmas presents, and attend holiday parties. With all of this to do, who has the time to worry about exercise and eating healthy?

"Don't beat yourself up because you ate that extra cookie at Grandma's house," said Cynthia Roberts, fitness specialist at the Wayne-Westland YMCA. "You should try to stay active. If you stay active, you will burn those extra calories. The holidays are stressful enough without having to worry about changing your eating habits, so just stay active."

With many people making their new year's resolution to lose weight, January is a big month for exercising. The problem is that most people have difficulty sticking to their resolution.

"A majority of people don't have a fitness plan in mind when they start out," Roberts said. "A fitness evaluation is the first step in the plan, instead of them just stepping on a scale. We can give them a complete workout plan. They will have a goal, and they can see what they can do. At the YMCA, we have sports programs and a pool, it's more than just going to a gym and working out."

The fitness specialist explained that people should make sure the exercise program they chose is something they enjoy, because they will be more likely to stick to it. You should also remember not to do everything at once.

"The biggest mistake people make is that they try to run into a program," Roberts said. "If you work into it, you will avoid injury and burnout."

You also need to plan your workout. Most people who plan ahead stick to it.

The YMCA is willing to work with people who want to make their resolution a reality. Beginning in January, all current and new members at the YMCA will receive a complimentary fitness evaluation to see where they are, where they could be, and what they need to do to get there. A computer will be used to graph their progress.

Roberts will be conducting the evaluations, which includes taking blood pressure and resting heart rate, measuring body fat with a caliper, riding a stationary bike to check fitness levels, testing flexibility, strength and endurance tests, and doing bench presses.

The Wayne-Westland YMCA recently got some new exercise equipment. Transports are a cross between a stair master and a ski walker.

"It doesn't leave you out of breath as much as the stair master, and it's not as hard on the knees," Roberts explained. "It's really good for seniors. Their heart rate doesn't rise as fast as it does on some of the other equipment. It provides a good cardiovascular workout."

A senior fitness program will begin the second week of January at the YMCA. From 12 to 1 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, seniors in the program will spend time discussing health and fitness, and then will take part in very low-impact aerobics. This will work on flexibility and stretching, as well as using their lungs at a pace which is good for seniors.

As of Jan. 1, 1998, the YMCA is opening up their membership, so that if you join one YMCA, you have joined them all, and can take part in activities at any center you wish. Once a year, each member of the YMCA will have access to their own personal trainer, free of charge.

Working out should not be a competition, which is why the YMCA remains a fitness center, and not a gym.

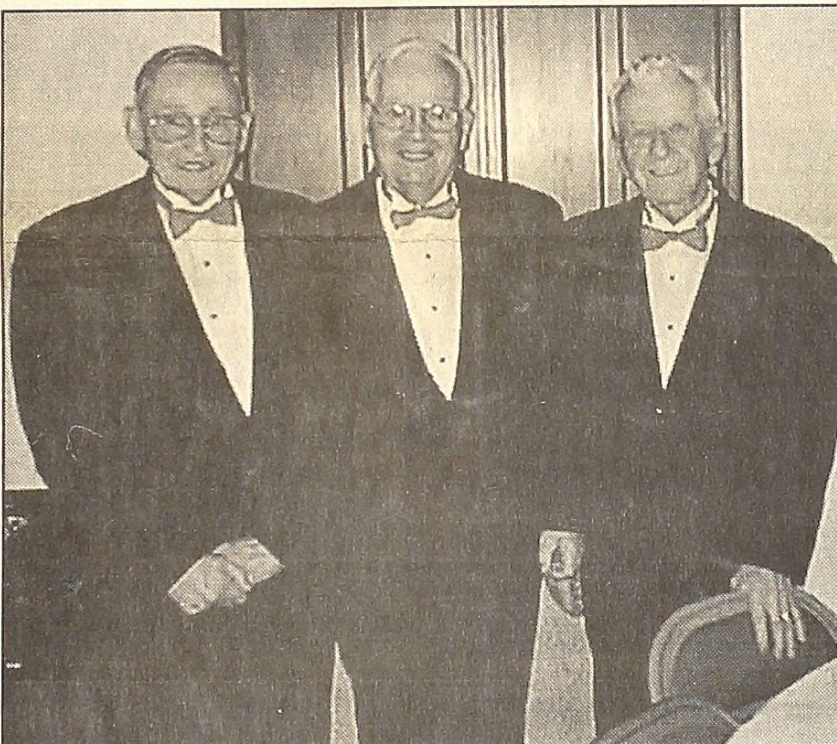

"We are very family-oriented," Roberts said. "Anyone can workout here. There is always something anyone can do here. It's a very relaxed, non-competitive environment."

For more information, or to sign up, call 721-7044, or stop by the Wayne-Westland YMCA, located at 827 S. Wayne Road in Wayne.

The best dressed men at the party were Bill Rands, Stan Koch and John Kozleski.

Westland seniors celebrate Christmas

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Staff Writer

What more could you ask for? There was food, fun and entertainment. Sylvia A. Kozorosky-Wiacek and the Friendship Center in Westland hosted a sold out Christmas party last Friday afternoon for the seniors.

Father Jack Baker of St. Mary in Wayne provided the blessing of wine and the invocation. There were season's greetings from Mayor Robert Thomas and council president Sandra Cicirelli.

Hosts and ushers for the celebration were John Cobb, Carl Simcox, Dominic Bologna, John Kozleski, Stan Koch, Bud O'Leary, Lee Sloan and Bill Rands.

Entertainment was provided by two different dance groups.

Gigi's Hawaiian Dancers included teacher Gigi Smith, Claire Ritchie, Mary Paraventi and Pearl Christopher.

There was also a performance by a group who had been taking country line dancing classes at the Friendship Center.

After lunch was served, some of the guests brought out cards and others just enjoyed the company they were with.

Even though the center is undergoing major renovations, the hall was festive with lighted wreaths and plenty of holiday spirit.

Several businesses helped make the party a success also. NBD provided flowers, Kroger, Westland gave fruit to every senior, President Tuxedo, Westland, donated nine tuxedos, Hunter and Wayne Liquor Store provided the catering, Ronald M. Coburn, M.D. gave hams, $25 gift certificates and candy mints and Lafern Porter played Christmas carols on the piano.

Seniors, students creat Christmas Village

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

The faces may have looked different but the expression was the same. Whether it was an elementary student allowed to leave school for a special project or a senior citizen volunteering to work with a student, everyone has smiles.

Armed with marshmallow creme and small milk cartons, each adult paired with a student to construct a Christmas village to decorate the length of the recreation room at the senior center.

They frosted their houses, pinned paper windows and glued candy doors. Now approximately 70 houses decorate the village scene, complete with a Christmas tree, snow and people milling around.

Tucker said this was the first time she has tried a project with the students.

Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves and they have a permanent display to show their family and friends for years to come.

Their hard work was recognized on Sunday. Students and seniors were invited to bring their families and show them their creation. Brownie troops sang Christmas carols, cookies and juice was served and Santa Claus made a surprise appearance.

Samantha Perreault wants CDs and Destiny Miller asked Santa for toys (above). Wyatt Platt, 6, and his brother, Luke, 3, (below) visited the Christmas Village with their grandma. ## Fulfilled wishes turn despair into joy

This week, Michigan Community Newspapers presents its award-winning special supplement, simply titled, Christmas Wishes. This year, we have decided to make it front page news, because the advertisers within have donated more money and MCN staffers have donated more time to make this year's Christmas Wish program extra special.

It is extra special because we will be spending upwards to $20,000 in cash to purchase food, clothing, toys and special gifts for hundreds of Western Wayne families.

I remember our first program four years ago when we mustered a few hours of help and small bits of cash to make a couple of dozen families happy. It made us feel good when millionaire philanthropist Percy Ross paid a call and offered encouragement for us to continue and we decided to make the program a part of every holiday season.

How different this year is. Many folks are skeptical because they say the good economy has shrunk the numbers of those in need. Their logic is those that want a job have a job, and the rest are looking for hand-outs.

Funny, we've gotten more letter describing desperate situations this year than ever before. Maybe the economy is going like gangbusters, but so is despair and hard luck. Single mothers in some areas outnumber two-parent families and in many cases these mothers have a horrible time providing for their children. Sometimes grandmothers end up with the children because both parents are irresponsible and drug dependent. If you were to read the letters MCN received, you would be surprised how many grandmothers have become surrogate mothers. And usually they are not prepared to take on the additional financial burdens.

I will agree that there are some that take advantage of our program's generosity. We eliminated one Canton family from our list because their demands (yes, demands) were too extravagant. Let's see, we were all set to build them a new deck, but they didn't like the dimensions. And, oh, they thought they should get a new car. And clothes. And toys, etc. A neighbor called to warn us that one family had called around to all the helping agencies and had been promised $2,000 in toys. She called them "professional beggars" with mother and children equally participating in the scam. And one family pulled up in a new sports utility vehicle with the mother decked out in fur to submit her letter of despair.

Fortunately, these families are the exception. For the most part, those that we help are very grateful. I don't know how many homes I've driven up to the past few Christmases and seen despair turn to joy when we deliver a truckload of gifts.

The Special Supplement provides you with a sampling of the letter received. We are committed to helping each and every one of the letter writers presented in the supplement. However, there are others. If you would like to donate to the MCN Christmas Wish Fund or adopt a family for Christmas, give us a call immediately. There is still time. Many of us at MCN will put in all the time it takes to see that every family possible is treated to a joyful Christmas.

Newspaper shares Christmas goodwill

MCN Staff Writer

The Christmas spirit is still alive. Through the Michigan Community Newspapers Christmas Wish program MCN staff, businesses and community members worked toward one goal. They joined together to help the less fortunate in our area.

From a young mother's plea to give her mother and brother a headstone to a grandmother who welcomed five abandoned children into her home, the letters asked for wishes to help make their Christmas a little merrier.

The kindness of a few dedicated people will make for wonderful Christmas memories for dozens of families. The Christmas Wish program helps families in Western Wayne County who need a little of Santa's magic to help them through the holiday.

In it's fourth year the Christmas Wish Program provides food, clothes toys or other items families need. For a month we received hundreds of letters from people who asked for help for their friends, relatives, neighbors or church members.

They were not looking for a hand out, just a helping hand to get through the holiday season. Many of the families are appealing on behalf of their children.

One mother asked us to replace a dog that was killed by two pit bulls. Her 10-year-old daughter witnessed the attack and was having nightmares.

It is true no child deserves to go without a Christmas. We are fortunate there are so many people and businesses in this community willing to play Santa for these youngsters.

It has been a very heartwarming experience to see the MCN office fill up quickly with the items for families. Christmas brings out the best in people.

But we should remember people need help everyday of the year.

On behalf of the MCN staff, we would like to thank everyone who participated in this program. You have truly contributed to the spirit of Christmas. We wish you all a wonderful holiday.

Christmas Wish Letters

To whom it may concern,
My Christmas wish is for my two boys to have a good Christmas, because right now me and my boys do not have a place to stay. But my boys are staying with their grandmother. I would be very grateful to anything that anyone can give my boys. My boys are in need of underclothes, socks, and P.J.'s. Thank you.

Thank you very much,
Carmalita

To Christmas Wish Program,
Me, my husband and my two daughters, Jessica, 8 years old, and Jennifer, 11 years old, have recently moved from up north to Taylor, Mi. We are having a real hard time this holiday year. We've lived her a little over a month. We've started with giving are furniture away. This Christmas is going to be hard on the kids, until we get our bills paid on time. Until then we can't spend any money. It's even rough paying for groceries. This is the first time we've been in bad shape. I'm asking for help at least for the children's sake. I'm praying that things will work out soon. But at this moment, it's tougher than ever. Thank you for your time.

Thank you very much,
Becky
Taylor

To whom it may concern,
Hi, my name is Denise Newbill and I need help for Christmas. I have two girls, one is 3 years old and the other is 11 months.

Son asks MCN to help mom

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

The letter starts: "My name is Donald and I'm 12 years old. I begged my mother to tell me who Santa was and she did. I felt really bad because now I know why she never had anything underneath the tree."

Donald wrote to Michigan Community Newspapers and asked us to help him give his mother and his siblings a nice Christmas.

"That's my Donald," said Tonya Spence when she heard what he had done.

She had no idea her son had written the letter.

Tonya said, "All that's important is that we are a family."

Donald was looking through the newspaper as part of a science assignment for school when he saw the article about the Christmas Wish Program.

Donald is a seventh grader at Romulus Junior High School.

"Can you please help my mom out. If you can't because there are so many of us can you just buy my mom something nice. I really love her so much."

Donald never once asked for anything for himself. He is like a junior Santa Claus. He just wants to make sure his family, especially his mother has a Merry Christmas.

Donald has four brothers and sisters who he would like to see with something under the tree also.

This letter was so different from many others we received from youngsters.

So many of them asked for Red Wings' leather jackets, play stations and other toys for themselves.

But Donald's letter, written on green construction paper complete with a hand drawn picture of his family, was different.

As in the true meaning of Christmas he asked for help to make the people he loves happy.

"I want my mom to have as good as Christmas as possible," he said.

What a wonderful lesson we can learn from this 12-year-old.

Daughter in need of headstones

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

Crystal Miles of Westland wrote to Michigan Community Newspapers asking for one thing for Christmas.

It's very hard for me to say but in May 1997 my mother passed away. After a 12 year battle with cancer she finally lost. We lost my 19-year-old brother in his sleep also. My mother wanted to buy a double head stone with a picture frame because my mom was going to be laid to rest next to my brother. Before my mom died she never had the chance to get my brother's head stone.

I want to be able to take my kids and see their names on their resting spot. I just would love to give my whole family a marked spot to go and grieve. I know this is asking much, but my family means very much to me.

Crystal's brother died on her birthday, April 26.

What Crystal didn't say in the letter is that when her mother died, Crystal had a good job at the airport. When they wouldn't grant the time off she needed for her mother's funeral, she quit. Since then she and her two children have moved into her grandmother's one bedroom apartment. They sleep on the floor.

Her grandmother recently received an eviction notice. She is scheduled to have open heart surgery soon and cannot work. Crystal is 10th on the waiting list for an apartment in Westland. She hopes to move in sometime in January or February. In the meantime she hopes to be able to stay with her grandmother.

Crystal is also pregnant and has nothing for her baby. All of her baby clothes and items were thrown away.

In spite of all of her own needs for her and her children, she wrote to MCN asking to fulfill her mother's last wish.

Last year MCN helped Crystal's aunt who has six children and couldn't afford a Christmas for them. We also fixed Crystal's mom's car so she could go to her chemotherapy treatments.

Crystal said her whole family has had a rough year. She said she will be happy to see 1997 go.

Stephanie, her 6-year-old daughter likes Barbies and her 8-year-old son, Robert likes cars that make noise.

They are such simple requests from a family who has suffered a year of tragedies. MCN hopes to be able to make their Christmas a happy one.

Crystal Miles hopes to ease her family's pain with a double headstone for her mother and brother.

Michigan Community Newspapers would like to thank all advertisers in this section for their generosity at a time of need.

We would also like to thank all of our customers for their support throughout the entire year.

Grandmother supports abandoned children

The Morris family now includes: Valerie holding Zanice, 11 months, Aquarius, 4, and Jamell, 16.

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

It was almost a year ago when Valerie Morris was baby-sitting five children. One day their mother never picked them up.

I took five kids into my home because one of them is my granddaughter, and I wanted them to all be together.

She already had a 16-year-old son so they suddenly became a family of seven.

Her savings account and emergency money was quickly spent to buy the kids what they needed since they came to her with only the clothes on their backs.

My bills are so backed up, I can't afford a Christmas for these kids.

Recently she got custody of her 4-year-old granddaughter, Aquarius and her 11-month-old sister, Zanice.

After raising two sons, Valerie realizes raising girls is different. But Aquarius and Zanice seem to have made the adjustment. They both call Valerie, Momma.

Jamell, Valerie's son is a big help. He got a job at Meijer as soon as his mom needed help with bills. In addition to working 20 hours a week and going to school he helps with the girls.

So what does Valerie wish for her family this holiday season?

"I just want the kids happy," she said.

Because the girls have had so many changes in their young lives and Jamell pitched in when his mom really needed him, Valerie wants them to have a wonderful Christmas.

She has given them what they need most, a loving, safe environment. But she wrote to Michigan Community Newspapers because she can't provide the clothes, toys and holiday meal that go along with a traditional Christmas celebration.

"All I want for Christmas is that these kids get a Christmas," she said.

Mother of two needs help to start over

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Staff Writer

Tammy Wiseman had a good job and a nice place to raise her two daughters, Terrica, 10, and Tyresha, 2.

But when her company relocated and left her without a job, she was soon evicted from the home she had lived in for nine years.

"I lost everything," she said.

For the past seven months Tammy has been living with relatives and friends, while she waits to get into her own place.

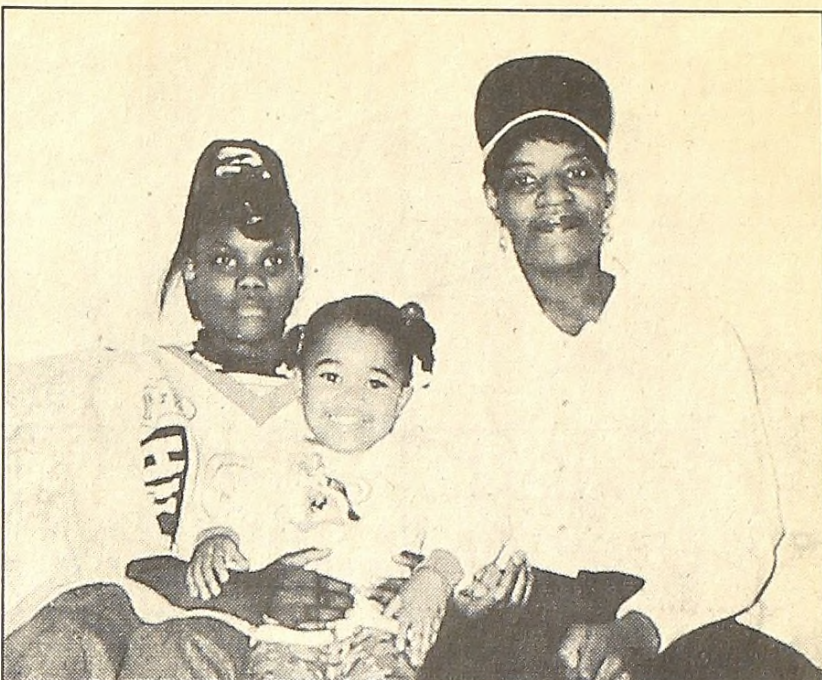

Most recently she and Tyresha have been living in a three bedroom apartment with seven other people.

"It's been rough," she said.

Her daughter Terrica has been staying with her sister so she can go to school.

"We only see each other on the weekends," Tammy said. Tammy found another job at the NBD Technical Center. She is a cook in the cafeteria. But her first week on the job she got pneumonia and was off for awhile.

She wrote to MCN to ask for help this Christmas. She will soon move into her own apartment, but she has nothing for it.

Tammy Wiseman hopes the Christmas wish program can help her give her daughters, Terrica, 10, and Tyresha, 2, a Merry Christmas.

She needs beds and all the supplies one would need to set up a home.

Even her Christmas decorations were lost when she was evicted.

While Tammy is happy she will be in her new apartment before Christmas and once again be living with both her children, she is having a hard time with the fact that she can't afford many of the things the girls want for Christmas.

of winter coats and boots. Her daughter, May, is also very interested in music and would like a radio. She also likes clothes and would love to have a long skirt.

Their thermostat on their furnace needs to be repaired and Jennie said she would like a wheelchair or a scooter to help her husband get around on his own.

She said a holiday dinner and some food would also be appreciated.

Jennie takes care of her family everyday. Her Christmas wish is that MCN can help her give her family a nice Christmas this year.

My husband recently had a stroke. I'm taking care of them both. I need help this year.

I'm a 67-year-old on a fixed income which isn't very much. Any help will be greatly appreciated. I just heard of the Christmas Wish Program this year.

Jennie has previously broken both legs. She is now battling arthritis. It is a challenge for her everyday to take care of her family.

She wrote to Michigan Community Newspapers asking us to provide warm clothes for her family this year.

She said they are all in need

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

Jennie Austin's letter is very short. This is probably because she doesn't have much free time. Her days are spent taking care of her husband, George, who is recovering from a stroke and her mentally handicapped 29-year-old daughter, May.

She must help her daughter comb her hair and get dressed everyday.

Her letter said: I am in need for Christmas. I have a 29-year-old handicapped daughter that I'm taking care of.

Mother hopes to stop daughter's nightmare | Christmas wishes reflect holiday spirit

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Staff Writer

This mother's Christmas wish is to put an end to her daughter's nightmares. In August, Tiffany, 10, witnessed her beloved dog Myer, a long haired Dachshund, being attacked and killed by two pit bulls.

Teresa Summers said the pit bulls were a threat to her neighborhood for a long time. She always kept her gate closed and her kids inside. But one day while they were in the process of moving, the gate was open.

When Myer saw the two pit bulls following a 3-year-old girl, he started to bark and the dogs turned their attention to Myer.

I really need help this Christmas. My daughter is having a hard time right now, because our Dachshund was attacked and killed by two pit-bulls while he was on his chain in his own backyard. My daughter, Tiffany, saw this happen. It traumatized her.

All Tiffany is wishing for this Christmas is another long haired Dachshund. She is very sad and can not get over what happened. Because of seeing this happen she has nightmares. She calls Myer's name in her sleep, she screams.

Myer was a birthday present for Tiffany. She used to like to dress the dog and put bows in it's hair. Myer was her best friend.

Teresa knows she can never

Teresa Summers with her two children, Tiffany, 10, and Daniel, 18 months hope MCN can replace their dog, Myer, who was attacked by two pit bulls.

replace Myer but she hopes a new dog will ease some of the pain the little girl has.

My wish for my daughter is that someone can please help make her wish come true. I think it will help her get over what happened to Myer.

By JENNY JOHNSON
MCN Special Writer

Everyone always says Christmas is about family and the sharing spirit. They usually say this as they are fighting for a parking spot at the only store that has the toy their child demands to have for Christmas.

It's easy to see, when stores start putting Christmas displays out before Halloween and Santa doesn't ask your child what she wants for Christmas, he just makes sure he smiles for the $10 picture, that Christmas has become quite commercial.

I'm as guilty as the next person. But I've had a very humbling experience this year. I never expected it to touch me as much as it did. When I embarked on the task of interviewing the top candidates for Michigan Community Newspaper's annual Christmas Wish Program I thought it would be just like every other assignment- meet with the families, take a good picture then move on to the next assignment.

But it didn't happen that way. Maybe I'm not an experienced enough reporter to keep myself from becoming moved from a story, but these families touched my heart.

I will especially remember two of the women I met. One is an example of a grandmother's love and a family's willingness to help children in dire need. The other is a story of a daughter, still coping with the recent death of her brother and mother and battling problems of her own, but determined to fulfill her mother's dying wish to have a headstone.

I will never forget the look on Valerie Morris' face when she told me the two little girls she recently got custody of had started calling her "Momma."

As the mother of an 18-month-old daughter, I know the flutter I felt in my heart when my little girl first said my name.

This family is the perfect example of what the holiday spirit is all about. When time got tough, Valerie and her son pulled together and took in children that needed a loving and happy home after their own mother abandoned them.

Valerie's letter asked us only to help give these children a Christmas.

All she wants for herself is to see her children's happy faces on Christmas morning.

This is a true example of a mother's love.

I will never forget the tears on Crystal Miles' face when she told me about her mother's heroic 12 year battle with cancer. My mind flashes to shopping with my mom a few weeks ago when I casually showed her dozens of things I wanted for Christmas.

I'm sure Crystal would just love to be with her mom for Christmas.

She could have asked for so much for herself and her children but she knows her whole family will benefit from having a marked place to visit her mother and her brother.

Coming home after meeting these two extraordinary women, I walk downstairs to where I have hidden my daughter's Christmas presents. Sure she will enjoy the toys, but now I think the best present I could ever give her is to set an example of how to be a generous and caring person.

I learned a valuable lesson from this assignment. The holiday spirit does exist and it's not in the malls, where the latest gadgets and gizmos are sold. It's in the hearts of the families we helped. Hopefully we have restored their faith in the true meaning of Christmas.

It is also in the hearts of the businesses and others who unselfishly helped fulfill Christmas wishes. Because of their selfless nature of sharing and caring hopefully everyone who reads these stories will believe in the holiday spirit.

Christmas Wish Letters

Dear Christmas Wishes,

I have three boys, 12, 9, and 2. I am the only one working at this time because my husband has a back problem. I only get paid every two weeks. Money is really tight around here. Christmas is really tight because last Saturday I was in a car wreck and now I have no way to get to work so I try to find a way everyday. My kids could really use some clothes, like pants, shirts, and winter coats. Thank you very much.

Thank you,
Mrs. Donna Poster
Westland

To Christmas Wish program,
My name is Melba. I am the mother of Three. Two boys and one girl. We moved to Westland in March 1997. I never thought moving from an apartment to a house would be so hard but it is. I never thought I would be asking for help. But this year I need help. So my wish is for my kids to have a good Christmas. I need help buying gifts. Thank you so much.

Thank you,
Melba Hines
Westland

I'm writing on behalf of a mother with 7 children ranging from ages 2 to 12 years old. This mother is on Aid for dependent children and finds it hard making ends meat. And now that its Christmas, she can't see where she would be able to give the children a merry Christmas as other children will have.

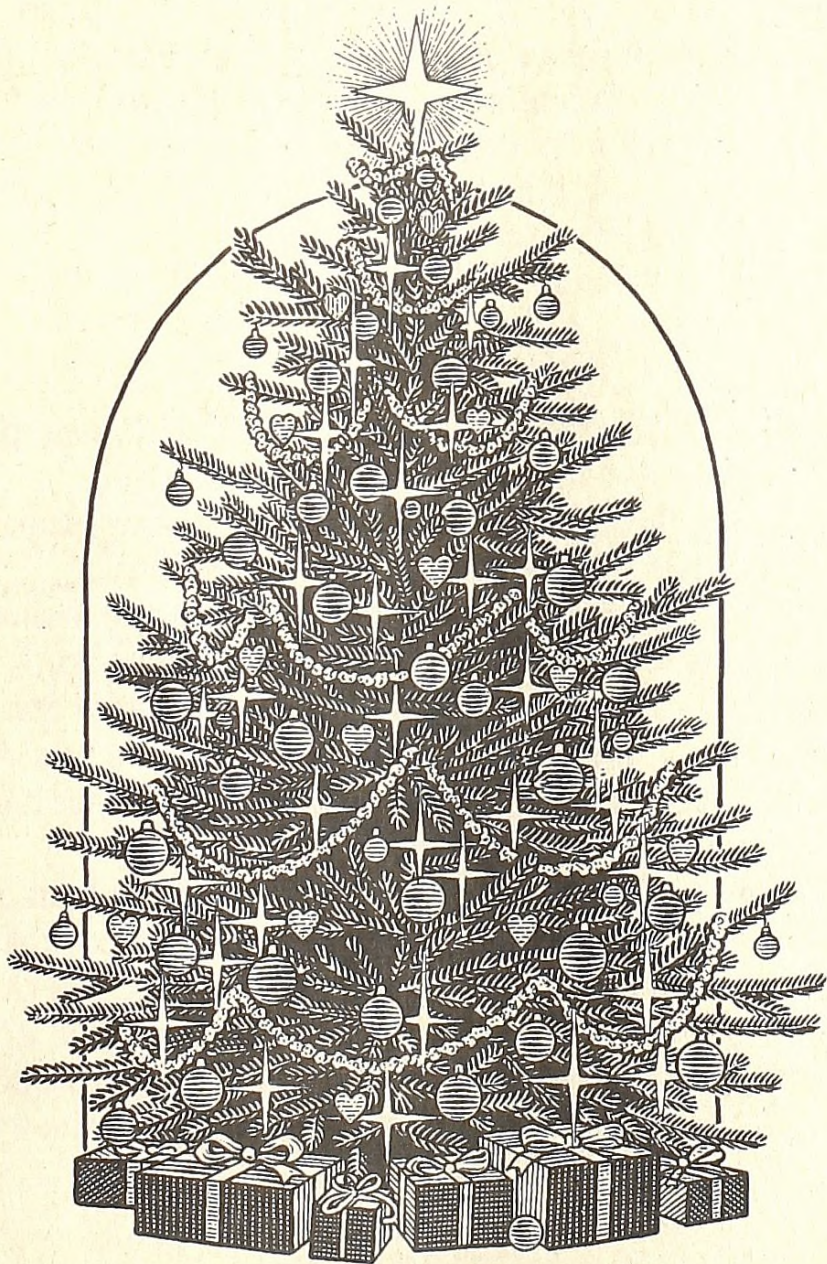

The kids would like bikes but I feel kids can't ride bikes out in the snow. I feel that the kids need warm clothing. The children are in need for clothes. Like pants, shirts, underwear, boots, hats, gloves, coats, and also a nice, warm holiday meal.

If you can make this family a wish it would be appreciated and would make 7 children very, very happy.

Sincerely,
V.B.

Help is on the way for these families

Accident victim needs help

To MCN:

I would like to apply for help for my family for the Christmas Wish. The reason we are asking for help is that everything went wrong when we were in a car accident on 9-18-96.

I was hurt and couldn't go to work then the insurance company paid 85 percent of my work pay until 7-15-97 that they stopped paying saying I could go to work but my doctor said I'm not able to go back to work because I can't hold anything in my right hand for just a little while (not even a gallon of bleach) so they won't help anymore and now we receive ADC and we have to use the help to pay bills and I couldn't buy them anything new for school. So my son told me not to worry that they would be O.K. to stop crying but I can't because I can't give them anything but my love for now, please help if you can, could you please help.

Merry Christmas to you and your family

Family hopes for 'good' holiday

To MCN:

I'm writing a Christmas Wish for myself and children. I have 3 girls and 1 boy. Sherita 17, LaDonna 11, E'Bonita 9, and Donald 10.

We live in the projects, not a place we're we want to live, but I can't afford to move right now. We've been there for almost a year now. I work midnites at Total Gas Station in Dearborn. I live from pay check to pay check every two weeks, me and my kids. I don't get help from the state, they say I make too much, I only make $700 to $800 a month.

But, they do give me some food stamps not much though, but it does help. My kid's father and I are not together, because of drugs.

My oldest daughter's father use to be there for her not anymore, my other three kid's dad has not been there for them at all, he lives in B'ham Ala. and is bad on them drugs, I just hope they can one day get there life's together for their kids sake, before it's too late.

Anyways, I just lost a close cousin this month Nov. 15, 1997, Willie Moore, and you had ad on him. And another cousin of mine told me about it and I went out and got a paper I used to buy the Ledger Star all the time, but a lot of side store's don't carry it anymore. But that's when I saw the ad about a Christmas Wish, God I hope I'm not too late.

MCN, my kid's would love to have a nice Christmas, they have not had a very good one in (2) years, could you "Please" help. I can get them some of the things they want but not all, price's is so high. And I feel that they should have everything they want, cause they're good about know-grades are very good, and it hurt's me not to be able to give them everything they want. My oldest daughter is in Job Corps in Grand Rapids, Her trade is business, she'll be home for Christmas though.

I hope you can help me with my Christmas wish.
On the other page is what I wish for them.

Thank You
D.F. of Inkster

Friend needs help for holidays

Dear MCN:

I am writing this letter in hopes that you may help a family I know. They are in great need. My friend is a single mother of three children ages 19, 17 and 9. The girl is 19 and the 17 and 9 are boys. This family has been torn apart by domestic violence and other things to go into great detail.

She recently went through the court's to regain her house. She doesn't even know how to come up with the money for the December payment. She has always been there for there for other people and now she is in need. Could you please find it in your hearts to help this family? She is doing all she can to keep this family together.

She recently got news that her mother has colon cancer.

This news has been very traumatic to her. She has no other place to turn. Her aunt has put her up in her house for four months, not expecting a dime. She feeds them and helps in anyway she can but can only do so much. Could you find it in your hearts to see that this family could receive gifts and maybe a family dinner for Christmas.

Sincerely yours,
G.R. of Wayne

Jobless mom needs help

Dear Christmas Wish,
This has been a stressful time of year for me, because of my recent job lost. I am finding it difficult to fulfill the wishes of my two children for Christmas. I learned about this program while reading the bulletin board at the Stottlemeyer Preschool where my son attends.

I am writing you this letter to see if you would help me make my children's Christmas a little merrier. My children names are Travis who is four years of age and Gaynelle who is sixteen years of age. Any help during the holiday season would be greatly appreciated by me and my family.

I hope that God will send his blessing to each one of you during the holidays and for the new year. Thank you again, and have a happy and blessed holiday season.

Respectfully yours,
V.E.J. of Wayne

Car is on Wish List

Dear Christmas Wish,
I am a mother with and on disability. I have 4 children, 3 girls and 1 boy. My Christmas wish would be to have some type of transportation — car. However, whatever you can do for my family will be greatly, greatly appreciated.

Sincerely
B.P. of Inkster

Car crash sets family back

Dear Christmas Wish:
My Christmas wishes are for my oldest son, his wife and 5 week old baby girl.

My son just returned to work from a major car accident which resulted in him having a closed head injury back in May. My daughter-in-law just returned to work also this week after a problem pregnancy. They could use a stroller as back and neck injuries won't allow him to carry her far and a play pen that converts to a crib. Diapers would also be a huge plus. My son and daughter-in-law could use coats and gloves.

My other wish is for my youngest son who just turned 20. He lost his job in Wixom due to his loss of transportation from Wayne to Wixom. He had let one of his friends move in that didn't have a place to stay and when his friend left he took most of my son's clothes, his boots, gloves and damaged his bedroom outfit. Right now he is sleeping on a pad on the floor.

Thank you
F. McD. of Wayne

Why I get involved in wishes

By RITA BEDELL
MCN Special Writer

I don't know about the rest of you, but the holiday season is probably the happiest time of year for me. That is, aside from my anniversary. I imagine that is why I enjoy our Christmas Wish Program so much.

There is nothing I can imagine to be any worse than to see a child without a tree. Or worse yet, to see the look on a child's face when Santa Claus didn't come to their home. I could not even begin to dream of how a parent feels when their child has to ask "Why didn't Santa come to our house?" "What did I do that was so bad?"

That, my friends is why I spend the time on these Wishes that I do. If you could walk into just one of the homes we walk into each year and see the looks on parents faces, the smiles and the tears, then you really know how worthy this cause is.

Every day, month after month, year after year, I call on local businesses and offer them my services to help them sell the services they have to offer, or find the employee they are looking for. But in December, I get even more pleasure by asking them to support us in our crusade.

Each year, I find out a little more, just how much the holidays mean to our local businesses. And if you take a look at all the wonderful advertisements in this section, you can see another reason why I enjoy doing this. These advertisers are a very large part of what makes this program a success. For instance, Tri County Mattress supplies us with beds, Tyme Auto takes a few of our letters each year and supports the families on his own. Not to mention all of the other very generous businesses you see.

It gives me a warm feeling inside to pick up the phone and say, hey Steven, I have some families that need your help. Can we count on you? Of course, there aren't many who will say no. I personally want to thank each and every advertiser for making this year another successful one. If I could, I would mention every one of them. But all of my customers know how much I, Michigan Community Newspapers, and all of the less fortunate people appreciate what they have done.

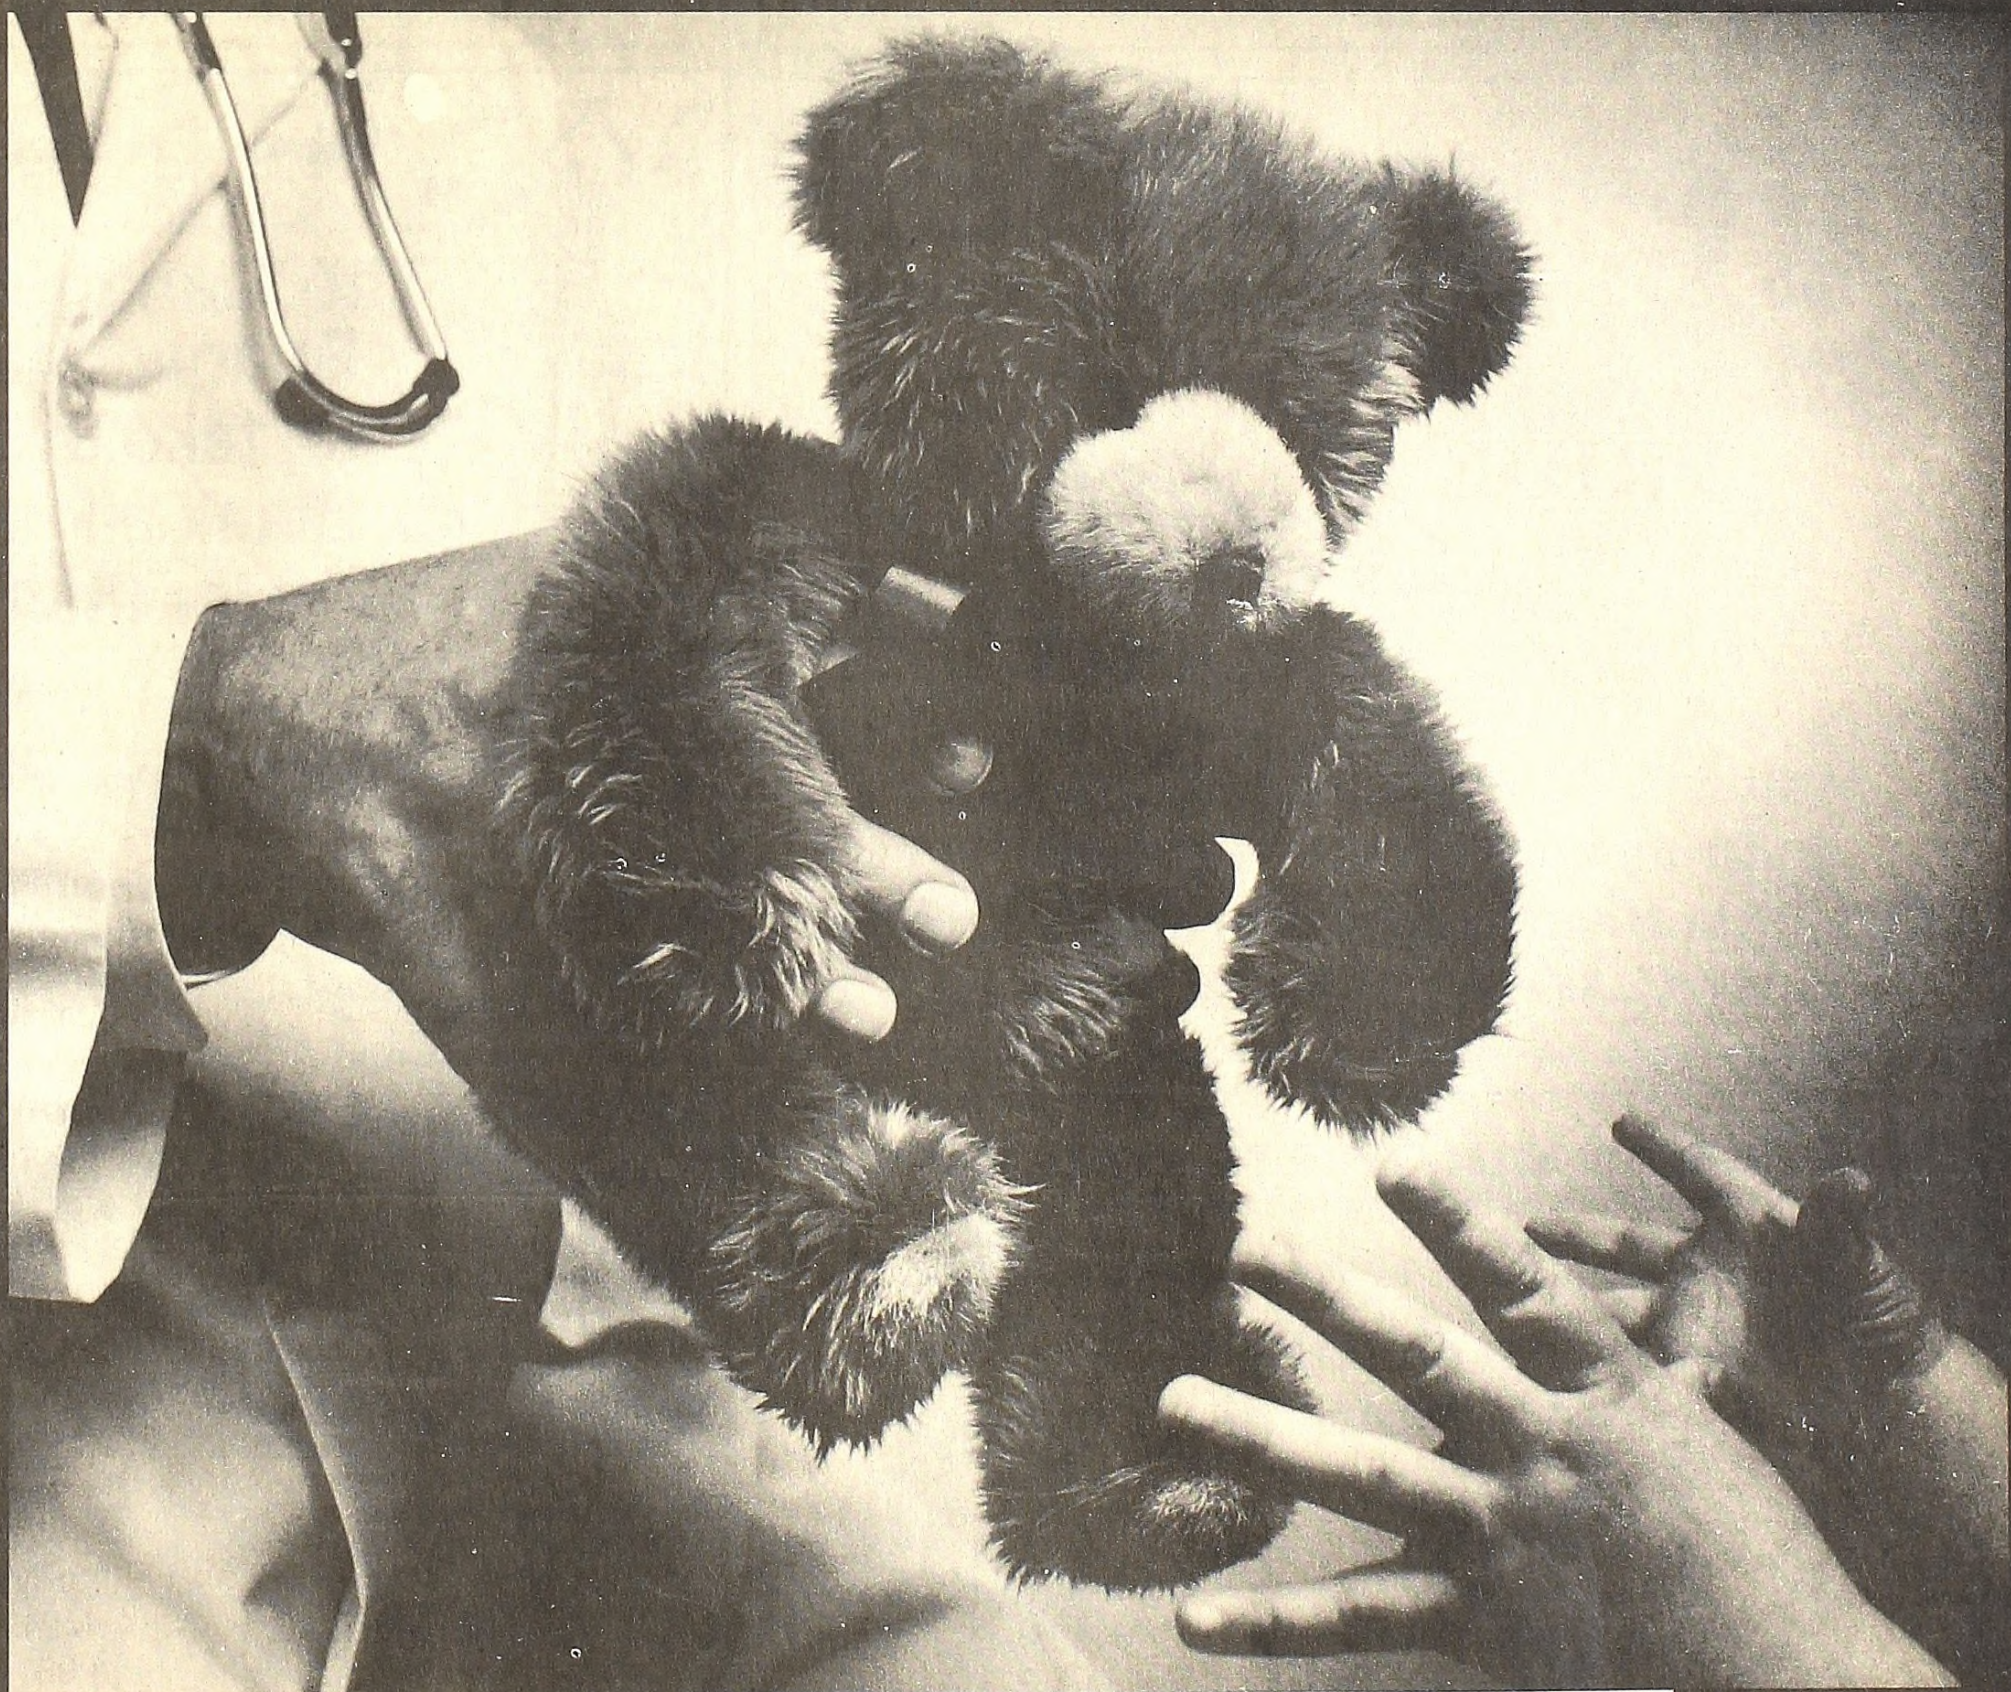

No, unfortunately, I do not do a lot of the shopping. My job is to stay in the office and make sure things are getting done. Don't get me wrong, I take a lot of pride in what I do.

Being in the office is the only way I can assure myself that everything is getting done in a timely manner.

So, as you can see, this is the most rewarding part of my job. I love what I do all year, yet at Christmas Wish time, it makes the whole year worth it! Happy Holidays To All!

For children, going to a doctor's office can be a little scary. That's why at Oakwood, we take the time to get to know them. To ask questions. And to listen. # Help is on the way for these families

Grandma needs help

Dear MCN,
My grandma needs your help. Could you get someone to fix her car. It is broke down and she just spent hundreds of dollars to have it fixed. She used to be able to take us to our sports after school, or if we got sick at school she would come get us. Sometimes takes us to the doctor or get our medicine. Also we just started going to Sunday school. She took us and she also went to adult religion class. She is not well. Has emphysema, crippling and painful arthritis and sometimes her bad cells eat too many (and too fast) good cells & it makes her very tired. She lives at Thomas Taylor Towers on Marquette. She said her income was way below the poverty level.
If someone can fix her car they would be helping my brother, me and my mom.
PS. Please help, thank you and happy turkey day and Christmas
A.R. and B.R. of Westland

Mom of 5 needs help

Dear Christmas Wish:
I would like to ask for a Christmas Wish for my mom. She was born and raised in Romulus and lost a son to Vietnam. She worked hard all her life to raise the 5 of us children. My dad divorced her and her 2 husbands was killed a year after my brother was killed in Nam. She is now retired but has no pension because of a car accident she was involved in she could no longer hold the good job she had at the schools. She takes in babysitting to supplement her Social Security check she get each month.
Anyway she is in need of a shed to hold her lawn mower and tools. She has two, one is ready to fall on her head and the other is almost as bad. She doesn't complain she just makes the best of what she has cause she cannot afford a new one. So if possible and I know I'm asking for a lot if you can fill this wish I'm sure you would make a very Happy Christmas for my mom.
Thank you and Happy Holidays
B.R. of Romulus

Boy wants stolen bike replaced

Dear MCN:
Last May on my son's 7th birthday his only wish was for a brand new ten speed bicycle. Even though I argued that he was too young for such a big bike. He pleaded and insisted that all his friends had them. So my mother and I got together and granted his only birthday request. Boy, my son was so happy to see his bike, he took really good care of it, making sure not to throw it on the ground when he got off, he kept it clean and trying with all his heart to keep his eyes on it. Well needless to say, one afternoon almost one month later my son ran in the house to use the bathroom, he parked his bike right outside our back door; he was in the bathroom about 2 minutes and went right back outside. He then ran right back in the house into the kitchen where I was fixing dinner, screaming "Momma, Momma, where is my bike." I thought he was hurt or something. I told him to check all over the yard, but to our surprise the bike was gone. We searched the neighborhood up and down for weeks with no success. My son's little heart was crushed, he cried and moped around the house for weeks. We told him that one day we would try to buy him another ten speed. Now that Christmas is coming, guess what his wish is? You got it a 10 speed bike! However, this year we can not buy a bike for Christmas. I have other children and money is very limited. So if you and your staff of wish givers can grant a 7 year old a wish I'm sure he will know that wishes do come true.
Thank You,
D.J. of Inkster

Bills pile up for family of 6

Dear Christmas Wish,
We hope this letter will reach you on time. My husband and I have 4 wonderful little boys who are doing so very well in school (2 are on honor roll) and at home. They have made up their Christmas lists a very long time ago. Keep dropping hints as all children do at this time of the year.
Unfortunately we can't even begin to grant their wish because the time is getting very short and there's no way possible at all. I had to stop working because of my poor health. My husband is working very hard for min. wage for a small family owned business which decided to close down for about 3-4 weeks for the holidays.
As much as we love to have Daddy home with us our financial situation is desperate. We're trying to make sure we have the rent (it has to be paid) we've just lost our telephone and now our electricity is being "pink-slipped" too. Things are really tight (even though we hope it's temporary) here until after the holidays and things are back to normal. I pray they will be.

Mom needs washer, dryer

Dear MCN,
My name is Robin (13) and my brother Robert (14) would like you to help our mom. She washes our clothes out in a utility tub and hangs them to dry. We would like for her to have a washer and dryer for Christmas. It doesn't have to be a new one just one that works! May God bless you.
R. and R. H. of Inkster

Boy needs coat for Christmas

My Christmas wish is for TK's son, Nathaniel. She is a young lady who was placed in my home with her son Nathaniel whom she got custody of in March of this year. Nathaniel was born on January 1, 1995. Since she has been with me Tina she has tried very hard to get good grades in school. Tina is also a very good mother. She has just been employed my McDonald's but she will not start working until after the Thanksgiving Holiday. Tina wants to get Nathaniel a coat and lots of toys. Nathaniel is also very good, one can tell that his mother take a lot of time with him.
Tina and Nat will get $10 each for Christmas. She doesn't know that I am writing this letter. If anyone deserves a good Christmas she does. As I have stated before she worked hard to turn her life around and has done so. When she gets her allowance she always see to it that her son has what he needs before she buys anything for her self.
Thank you

Help is on the way for these families

Widow needs help for children

Dear Christmas Wish:

I'm a widowed mother of two a 14 year old boy and a 7 year old girl. I have no way to buy them any Christmas presents this year. My fiancée was disabled in an accident this year and we are still waiting for Social Security decision until we get that no one else will help not even the state. I've done what I can, but all our bills are behind including our rent. We sold our car to help pay the bills and we're barely making it on food. Both my children through it all have been great, they both made the honor roll and both try to understand. Sometimes its so hard, I'd really like to give them a nice Christmas, they've gone without so much this year.

We don't go anywhere, without having to walk, so the kids don't go. She didn't get but 2 outfits each for new school clothes they still could wear last years.

My son doesn't have a coat that fits him. I could go on all day they need everything and they do deserve a good Christmas. Please help if you can.

Thank You
S.S. of Garden City

Plumbing needs fixing

Hi! I'm writing in behalf of my mom and dad.

My wish is for them to get their plumbing fixed. Their furnace went out and they had to pay over $2,000 for the furnace. My dad is on Social Security and mom does a little babysitting, we have 10 people that lives in the house. We have had 3 estimates everyone want between $1,500 to $1,800 to redo the plumbing. The toilets back up, the drains back up, the water won't go down in the kitchen, it's very unsanitary for all of us and not to say embarrassing.

Any help would be appreciated they are good people, they try to provide for us but the funding is just not there, its getting cold, and its my wish for my parents that this problem be corrected for Christmas.

Thank you very much and God Bless You,
R.B. of Inkster

New mom needs help

To whom it may concern,

I am writing this Christmas request for my children. I had a baby three months ago and I couldn't go back to work because my motor went out on my car. I had to buy new things for my baby and buy school clothes and school supplies and other bills and things with the money that I had saved. I also had to pay for rides to get to places that I needed to go to.

I've been trying to start back saving my money from assistance to get a motor for my car so that I can go back to work. It's kind of hard to try and do for three children on assistance especially when it seems as though everyday they need something else.

I can not be picky when someone else is giving me a helping hand but I will be thankful and grateful for what ever you can give.

Thanks and may God's face smile upon you.
C.N. of Belleville

Warm clothing needed for woman, son

Dear MCN,

I want to make a Christmas Wish...

It is not for myself but for my uncle and his family.

Two years ago my uncle fell and broke both of his ankles. He was off work for 6 months, during that time he became very depressed and never returned to work (after 28 years at Ford Motor Co.). He rarely leaves his home. He has applied for Veterans Benefits but has no income at this time. They have no heat in their home. His 22 year old daughter and 2 year old grandson moved in with him to help him financially but she cannot afford the past due MichCon Bill of almost $500. She walks to work everyday. She does not have a winter coat, boots, hat, or gloves. They do not have money for any extra's this year. Please help them!

My wish is for them to be warm, warm clothes for my cousin, and few toys for her son, and something special that he (my uncle) can give to his 15 year old daughter for Christmas.

Any help would be greatly.

Thank you
C.W. of Inkster

Gifts sought for grandchildren

To whom this may concern:

I am not writing for myself but for my three grandchildren who live with their mother, my daughter. She works full-time to try to make ends meet but it is still extremely hard. She works at a video store making just over minimum wage. She can't really look anywhere else for work because she does not have a car. She walks back and forth to work everyday (six to seven days a week.) She like any other parent wants the best for her children. Also living with her is her father whom has many serious health problems. She does not like to ask for help so I am asking for her. Her children have to go without most of the year but she likes to make Christmas very special. Her children are Danial age 6, Demond age 5, and Danielle age 2. She does receive food stamps so food really isn't a problem. It is Christmas gifts. The boys enjoy playing with action figures, toy motorcycles, any board game, and riding bikes. The baby girl likes dolls, and really wants a toy grocery cart with toy groceries. She also likes tea sets. Anything you can do to help would be greatly appreciated.

Thank You for the your time.
Sincerely
C.A. of Romulus

Boy wants gift of music

Dear Christmas Wish,

I am writing this letter concerning your Christmas gifts for kids. I have two grandsons one is mentally impaired, he loves music very much. He broke his tape player. He's very lonesome without it. He cannot speak. If he could have one it would make him very, very happy. His mother is deceased, but he and I are getting along fine. The two year old loves toys, food and everything. We would be very grateful.

Thanks
